NEWS SUMMARY

THE RUSSIAN UPRISING.

Rioting and pillage are in progress in Warsaw in spite of the presence of large numbers of troops. British consular officers there are reported to have been assaulted by Hussars, and the matter, it is said, has been called to the attention of the St. Petersburg government by the British ambassador. There were no disturbances in St. Petersburg. In Batoum, Prince Gurielly, an officer of the police, was assassinated. The influence of Grand Duke Sergius, the foremost of the reactionaries, is alleged to have governed Emperor Nicholas ever since the strike troubles began. Father Gopon, the leader of the St. Petersburg workmen, is reported to have escaped to Stockholm. The holy synod has denounced him as a betrayer of his sacred office.—Pages 1 and 2.

BRYAN PRAISES THE PRESIDENT

Roosevelt's Reforms, Says the Nebraskan, Have Started All Classes to Thinking.

HOPE FOR DEMOCRACY, TOO

William Jennings Bryan is a Roosevelt man, and he admitted as much last night in his stateroom on the Pennsylvania limited, while tarrying at the Union station on his journey to the west. And he says still more, insisting that nearly everybody in the country has been won to the president's attitude toward reforms in railroad rates, as well as the whole system of interstate commerce.

The chief executive, according to Mr. Bryan, has set everybody thinking. A new idea of reform has sprung up, enlisting the strongest element of the Republican party to the side of their chief, says the man from Nebraska.

"The effect will be far-reaching," declared Mr. Bryan, "and it will have no little influence in shaping issues in both parties."

Mr. Bryan was returning to his home in Lincoln after an extended trip through the east. In New Haven he appeared in the Bennett case, dined at a dollar dinner tendered him by the partisans of Hartford, and on Saturday night was "roasted" by the Gridiron club in Washington. A few hours before the twice-defeated leader of the Democracy had left the table where he sat vis-a-vis with President Roosevelt, and the spirit of the banquet table had not left him. For several months the "boy orator of the Platte" has been going to school to the Rough Rider, and the fact that he has been an apt pupil was apparent last night in every manner and word.

Mr. Bryan was asked to express his opinion as to the future of the Democratic party. It was a cheerful opening and he talked freely.

"The Democratic party is showing more aggressiveness," he said. "Its leaders are manifesting a desire to get together. Since the last campaign this is an encouraging sign. In the east my observations have convinced me that they are uniting to fixed purposes. This spirit is infectious and will spread to all parts of the country and strengthen the rank and file of the party, and the esprit de corps of the individual adherents to Democracy will in turn give added encouragement to the chieftains.

"The president's vigorous dealing with the question of railroad rates is bearing good fruit. It will influence that element of the Republican party that would compel a correction of interstate commerce abuses. The election of LaFollette indicates the necessity of the support of the president and a man who will stand courageously for reform. The people are thinking. Why, I believe that there are even some people in Pennsylvania who are giving serious thought to the matter of government."

The Nebraskan uttered this sentence without cracking a smile, and when a reporter bowed complacently, the humor of the remark came but vaguely to the speaker.

"There is immediate necessity for reforms in municipalities in the matter of the sale of franchises," he continued, "and in reply to an article on this very subject which I published in an eastern magazine last month, I received letters from two Republicans of Pennsylvania. And they coincided with my views."

"Coxey claims that he is entitled to some of the bouquets which are being cast around as a result of contemplated railroad rate reforms, does he not?" was suggested.

"Yes, but Coxey didn't use the railroads," replied Mr. Bryan. "As I remember it, Coxey walked."

Killed by a Playmate.

MOUNT VERNON, N. Y., Jan. 29.—(Special.)—While playing Indian in the home of Bernard Rorzowsky, six years old, in the Bronx today, the boy accidentally killed George Vanderpool, five years of age, with a shotgun.

DARING HOLDUP TRIED IN HEART OF THE CITY

Italians Make Three Desperate Attempts to Stop Sleigh and Used Knife.

In the boldest western fashion, two Italians made three unsuccessful attempts to hold up two occupants of a sleigh in the very heart of the downtown section of the city at 6 o'clock last evening, and only by their persistence in following the sleigh and continuing their aggressive tactics, fell into the toils of the police.

Lewis Bernstein, a huckster of 23 Vine street, and Sadie Goldman of Chatham street were driving down Webster avenue. As the sleigh neared Sixth avenue an Italian jumped from the sidewalk and grasped the horse's head, while a companion rushed to the side of Bernstein, demanding:

"I want to see you!"

Bernstein whipped his horse, dragging the man at the animal's head 50 yards before he released his hold. The would-be highwaymen followed the sleigh down Grant street, and at First avenue made another attempt at holdup. Here Miss Goldman jumped from the rig, while Bernstein was beating off his assailants. One slashed at him with a knife, cutting his coat and hat. Bernstein fought fiercely with his whip, and as a crowd began to collect the men made off.

As Bernstein reached his stable at Water street and Cherry alley, the men again appeared and renewed their attacks. At this stage Policemen Michael Discon and William McDonough, and Fireman James Williams were attracted, and the men again fled. Later Tony Aucheria of 620 Sixth avenue and Laberia Boletta of Webster avenue were arrested in Second avenue. One carried a knife and the other had a revolver. Bernstein identified the men as his assailants.

YOUNG GIRL PREVENTS ESCAPE OF PRISONER

Ohio Sheriff's Daughter Pursues Him and Secures His Capture by Officers.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

BUCYRUS, O., Jan. 29.—The quick wit and agility of Jeannette Gebhart, the 16-year-old daughter of Sheriff John Gebhart, frustrated an attempt of C. W. Ports, an alleged diamond thief, to break jail this morning. The girl had been left to look after the jail in the absence of her father.

While making a tour of inspection through the corridor she discovered Ports in the act of opening his cell door and rushing for the outer entrance. In a moment Ports had gained the street. The girl quickly closed the outside door and gave chase. Ports dodged into side streets but the fleet-footed pursuer kept him in sight and shouted for help as she ran. Overtaking officers she directed them where to look for the fugitive, who was captured and brought back to jail.

Ports several days ago shattered a window of a jewelry store in daylight and snatched diamonds from the window display. He and an accomplice were captured and are awaiting a hearing. A Springfield (O.) jeweler, whose place was robbed, identified the two men and recovered a portion of goods stolen.

FIGHT DUEL WITH IRON RODS.

Two Men Frightfully Wound Each Other at New Castle—Both Arrested.

NEW CASTLE, Jan. 29.—(Special.)—John Flicking and William Davis fought a duel in a vacant blacksmith shop last night, using iron rods. A spectator was so sickened by the brutal way in which they had wounded each other that he notified the police.

When the officers arrived both men were streaming with blood from frightful wounds. Flicking fainted after he had been taken to the police station. Both were so seriously injured that they required the attention of a physician. They will receive hearings tomorrow.

SUNDAY IS LOOSE AT THE CAPITAL

Sabbath Day Is Given Over to Teas and Theater Parties by Society.

CLERGY'S WARNING UNHEEDED

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau, Room 10, Postal Building, WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 29.

This social season has been a marked broadening of the manner in which Sunday is observed at the national capital. The Puritanical restrictions thrown about the day in bygone years have been loosened despite the warnings of the clergy against the tendency toward the continental Sunday.

Among the social events today were the afternoon teas given by Miss Pauline Morton, daughter of the secretary of the navy, for Miss Nelson of Kansas City, and that by Mrs. Frank Ellis for Miss Holmes, her guest, an American girl who has spent all her life abroad. Several representative people in the evening entertained parties at Chase's theater at one of the regular De Koven symphony concerts.

Society progress toward the more liberal Sunday has been gradual, but the broader regime has come steadily on. Bishop Satterlee of the Episcopal diocese of Washington has frequently spoken of the practice of making Sunday like every other day in the seven. But society has gone merrily on. Sunday dinner parties have become more and more the vogue. Now the capital on Sunday has its round of dinners, informal at-homes, theater parties for the evening concerts, which are the only attractions at the local playhouses on this day, with gay little suppers afterward at the hotels and restaurants or at the homes of the hosts and hostesses.

It was three weeks ago that Mrs. W. S. Cowles, President Roosevelt's sister, gave a tea following a luncheon for Mr. and Mrs. Whitelaw Reid, who were her house guests. Until then teas had been largely confined to week days.

RUSSIANS MEET WITH REPULSES

Attacks and Counter Attacks Result in Victories for the Japanese.

SAKHAROFF REPORTS

Russian General Admits Defeat in Operations, But Says Opponents Lost Heavily.

REFUGEES LEAVE FOR ODESSA

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

TOKYO, Jan. 29.—(8 p. m.)—Telegraphic advices received here today from the Japanese Manchurian headquarters say:

"Our detachment occupied Liutiako yesterday (Saturday) and was twice counter attacked by a superior force of the enemy last night. We entirely repulsed the enemy. Our other detachment at dawn today (Sunday) attacked the enemy in the neighborhood of Feitsaihotu, about two miles north of Heikoutai, and occupied the position. The enemy fiercely counter attacked our force which assailed Heikoutai last night, but was repulsed entirely. Today our forces occupied the neighborhood of Heikoutai.

"The enemy in the direction of Liutiako and Heikoutai has entirely retreated to the right bank of the Hun river. Our force is now pursuing them. In the direction of Chenchiehpao and Likajentan the enemy made several attacks last night, but were repulsed. The enemy attacking these points belonged to the Eighth and Tenth corps.

Captured 500 Russians.

"In the direction of Heikoutai the enemy is composed of the First and mixed corps of infantry, together with a cavalry division under Gen. Mistchenko. We captured 500 officers and men. The casualties on both sides are under investigation."

About 65,000 Russian troops have been engaged on the Japanese left and bombarding the left flank and center.

Manchurian headquarters report that on Saturday the Russians occasionally bombarded the right and center armies, following up the bombardment with attacks which the Japanese immediately repulsed. In the direction of the left wing a Japanese detachment was victorious at Chenchiehpao and occupied Liutiako and Lichiawopeng on Saturday, the Russians retreating north and west.

The Japanese were occupied with infantry positions southeast of Heikoutai on Saturday and Sunday assaulted the main position. Another detachment dislodged a regiment of infantry, a brigade of cavalry and 12 guns occupying Haerhpao, five miles south of Heikoutai.

Strength of the Russians.

The Russian strength opposing the Japanese left flank is roughly estimated at eight corps, consisting of the Fourteenth and Fifteenth infantry divisions, the Second and Fifth brigades of European rifles, the Ninth infantry division of the Tenth corps, part of the Sixty-first infantry division, part of the First Siberian corps and the First and Ninth brigades of rifles.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 30.—12:25 a. m.—Instead of confirmation of Saturday night's report that Gen. Kuropatkin had broken through the Japanese left, there came Lieut.-Gen. Sakharoff's official admission yesterday that the Russians had been compelled to retire from Sandepas on account of their inability to carry a redoubt. It is also significant that dispatches from Russian correspondents at the front have again suddenly ceased, which is regarded as an indication of the failure of the operation and strengthens the first impression that it was a demonstration undertaken to distract the people at home from the present situation.

Statement of Correspondent.

Nemirovich Danchenko, the war correspondent who has just arrived from the front, said today: "I do not regard the present offensive movement as likely to be prolonged. I believe Gen. Kuropatkin does not contemplate a decisive movement before a couple of months. The

HARGIS AND FRIENDS WILL MAKE AN APPEAL

They May Be Arrested in Lexington While En Route to Frankfort.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

JACKSON, KY., Jan. 29.—Judges McQuown, J. H. Hazelrigg and J. S. Hayes have been in consultation with their clients, Judge James Hargis, Senator Alex Hargis, Sheriff Ed Callahan and Elbert Hargis all day and as a result a petition for a writ of prohibition against the Fayette circuit court has been prepared and will be filed in the court of appeals tomorrow. The Hargises and Callahan are charged with alleged conspiracy in the murder of James Cockrill.

The defendants will accompany the attorneys to Frankfort. This would necessitate their passing through Lexington and if the Fayette court persists in the position that the question of its jurisdiction is not contestible until the indicted men are in custody, they will be arrested there.

The ground on which the petition is based is that warrants charging the men with the murder of James Cockrill were issued in Breathitt county and the men arrested and held to the grand jury prior to the finding of the indictment in Fayette county charging the same crime.

BELIEVE HOCH INTENDS TO SAIL FOR GERMANY

Chicago Police Receive Many Clews, the Best One Coming from New York—Ports to Be Watched.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—Information as to the probable whereabouts of Johann Hoch, the German who is said to have had 20 wives and who is wanted in Chicago on a charge of wife murder, was received today from all parts of the country. The best clue came from New York, where a man answering Hoch's description applied for transportation at the offices of a German steamship line.

The New York authorities have been requested to watch all the eastern ports to prevent the escape of the alleged bigamist should he attempt to return to his native country.

"It will be but a short time now until we have Hoch in custody," said Chief of Police O'Neill tonight. "We have communicated with the police of nearly every large city in the country, and requested them to be on the lookout for the fugitive. He will have to be a pretty shrewd man to escape the network that we have thrown around him."

INSANE WAITRESS CAUSED PANIC IN A RESTAURANT

RICHMOND, IND., Jan. 29.—(Special.)—Miss Lizzie Glosz, a waitress at a restaurant here, became insane today and threw cups of tea and coffee over the diners, several of whom were badly scalded. A mad rush to escape ensued, tables were overturned and many women fainted. It required two policemen, assisted by the attaches of the restaurant, to place the woman under restraint.

STRIKERS SACK CITY OF WARSAW

Pillage and Bloodshed Mark Day of Anarchy in Polish Metropolis.

PROTEST BY BRITAIN

Hussars Attack Her Consuls. Sergius Supreme With Czar. Father Gopon in Sweden.

A RUSSIAN PRINCE MURDERED

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

WARSAW, Jan. 29.—The strike disorders are becoming more serious. The ordinary life of the city is quite suspended. On Saturday the strikers stopped the street railway service and today began a wholesale pillage. The majority of the shops in Marshal Kovaki street and the state vodka shops were looted. All the factories, shops, schools and theaters are closed, and the street lamps are extinguished. There have been several collisions between the police and strikers, and many arrests have been made. Fearabiding inhabitants are terror-stricken.

LONDON, Jan. 30.—The correspondent at Warsaw of the Daily Mail telegraphed yesterday as follows:

A group of Hussars ran down British Vice Consul Muoukain Saturday night in Marshal Kovowski street. Two Hussars rushed at him with their swords, inflicting severe cuts across his face and lower lip. Dripping with blood Muoukain was conveyed to a hospital, where he is doing well. British Consul General Murray had a narrow escape from being similarly run down in Wierzbova street. It appears that the incidents were due to a company of Hussars getting drunk and running amuck."

Complete Anarchy at Warsaw.

The same correspondent describes Warsaw as being in a state of complete anarchy. Said he: "Many have been killed or wounded in charges by troops and the recklessness of swashbuckling Hussars. The only conveyances moving in Warsaw today have been military supply carts, ambulance wagons and tumbrils for the dead. The attempted rising of workmen has failed, and the great demonstration timed for today has been postponed. After some fighting the wrecked and distraught city pauses to see what night will bring."

Describing the pillaging of stores, the correspondent says: "Many put chalk crosses on their doors or lighted lamps in their windows, and thus secured their safety. The rioters passed before the sacred emblems. The hoarse murmurs of the mob drowned the church bells. In several cases soldiers fired on looting mobs, and in one case, in a working class suburb, they fired a cannon shot, hoping to disperse the crowd. Intermittent firing was proceeding there all day. Hundreds of shops were wrecked and several stores were burned. Probably a few score were killed. The ambulances were busy all day. There are alarming rumors from the country districts. It is rumored that the town of Brestlitovsk is burning."

Protest by British Ambassador.

The Daily Mail's St. Petersburg correspondent reports that Sir Charles Hardinge, the British ambassador, has asked the Russian government to make inquiry into the outrages on the British consul general and vice consul at Warsaw.

VIENNA, Jan. 29.—A telegram from Czenstochow, Poland, reports that a bomb was thrown into the cavalry barracks there today and that many soldiers were wounded. The act is supposed to have been in revenge for brutality in dispersing a workmen's meeting. Other dynamite outrages are reported to have occurred in the neighborhood of Lodz. A gendarme is reported to have been killed.

BATOUM, Jan. 29.—Prince Gurielly, an officer of the police guard, while driving past the iron works this morning, was shot and killed by an unknown man. No arrests have been made. A big strike has been in progress here for some weeks.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 29.—(12:25 p. m.)—Evidence is accumulating that Emperor Nicholas, throughout the present crisis, has acted largely upon the advice of Grand Duke Sergius, who is the most reactionary member of the imperial family, the head of what is denominated the war party and whom the Liberals stigmatize as Russia's evil genius.

With the first appearance of Father Gopon in the movement, Sergius urged the necessity of putting down the demonstrations in the most energetic manner. Since Sunday last his hand is considered to have been visible in the appointment of Gen. Trepoff to the governor generalship of St. Petersburg, with the exceptional powers conferred upon him.

Grand Duke Sergius Responsible.

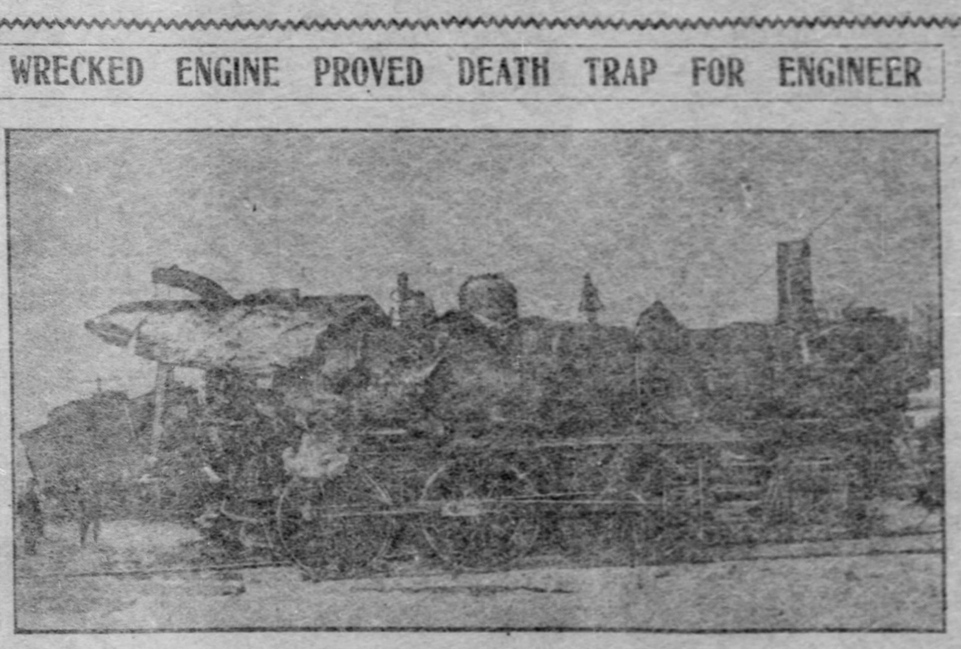
Grand Duke Sergius is known to be responsible for the charges preferred by Deputy Chief of Police Koulnieff of Moscow which is causing Foreign Minister Lamsdorff embarrassment, and now, it is believed, he is about to prevail in the matter of naming as Prince Sviatopolk-Mirsky's successor in the ministry of the interior M. Boulygin, formerly governor general of Moscow, who, like his patron, is an extreme reactionary.

Your correspondent is informed from a high source that Grand Duke Sergius, more than M. Witte, is responsible for the elimination from the imperial manifesto of Minister Sviatopolk-Mirsky's plan for an elective semstvoists' council of the empire. Against Sergius' influence the ministers at present are apparently powerless. Sergius remains in the little palace inside the strong ramparts of the Kremlin fortress in Moscow, from whence he dispatches daily a courier to Tsarskoe-Selo.

Arrests continue. Among those seized last night and conveyed to SS. Peter and Paul fortress were Yakonbovich, the poet, who served a term of exile in 1866 for connection with the revolutionaries and Miss Pimenoff, a writer, and her daughter.

Father Gapon, it has been definitely established, escaped through Finland and was conveyed across the gulf to Sweden by sympathetic Finns. At present he is supposed to be in Stockholm. A story has been started, and which is attributed to the police, that Gopon is a Jew.

WRECKED ENGINE PROVED DEATH TRAP FOR ENGINEER



YOUNGSTOWN, O., January 29.—(Special.)—Running at the rate of 40 miles an hour eastbound passenger train No. 8 on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad was wrecked a mile outside of Niles at 3:30 o'clock this morning. Edward Fryman, the engineer, was instantly killed and his body was horribly mangled. The fireman was in the cab and unable to jump, but escaped uninjured.

The cause of the wreck was the breaking of the connecting rod of the switch. When the train pulled onto the switch the engine went over the switch to the main track, but the wheels of the tender started upon the siding, dragging the cars behind it. The engine was thrown on its side and the momentum caused it to plow along the ground for 75 feet.

Father Gopon Escapes.

The zemstvos of Saratoff, Nijni, Novgorod and Vladimir have adjourned because the St. Petersburg zemstvos are practically in control of the governmental machinery of the provinces, and some of the Liberals are trying to induce others to close with the object of further embarrassing the government and compelling it to yield to the demand for the convocation of a constituent assembly.

A marshal of the nobility from one of the central provinces has expressed the opinion that the government cannot extricate itself from the present situation without very substantial concessions. He believed that within three months, in the face of thickening troubles, it would be obliged to create a zemskyzabor.

The situation in Poland is increasingly threatening, especially in Warsaw and Lodz. In the latter place, it is reported, 100,000 men are out on strike. There are prospects of the extension of the strike in Odessa and other manufacturing cities of Southern Russia, where the workmen are better organized.

Anticipate New Terrorism.

Meanwhile practically all classes anticipate new terrorism. It is said that when the leaders noticed the social Democrats that a truce had been proclaimed immediately after the close of the zemstvoists congress, they were told that the gauntlet would again be thrown down to the aristocracy, but that this time the sovereign, who was specifically declared to be exempt from danger during the recent activity, as shown in the trial of Sasonoff, the assassin of Minister Von Plehve, would be included in the challenge. Attempts especially are expected upon the officers who a week ago ordered the soldiers to shoot.

The resumption of work here is expected to become general today.

The newspapers very gingerly discuss the tragedy of January 22, and are only able to hint strongly that it might have been avoided if proper measures had been taken in advance. It is extremely significant, however, that all the papers severely criticize the information about England's responsibility for the strike. As the editors had all been apprised of Grand Duke Sergius' responsibility their comments are indirectly aimed at him.

No Disorder at Moscow.

MOSCOW, Jan. 29.—The strike is considered to be practically over. A blizzard rendered excellent service to the authorities in keeping the people indoors, and there was not the slightest disorder today on the part of the strikers. The authorities, however, had taken exceptional precautions to avoid the assemblage of crowds. Even the Sunday markets were closed. Strong pickets were posted all over the city, inside the factories and outside. There are about 30,000 troops in the city.

It is reported that the police Saturday night sent several thousand of the most obstreperous strikers back to the villages. Father Petroff, a noted St. Petersburg labor leader, who returned from the capital tonight, censures Father Gopon's attitude as indicated in his last proclamation, announcing himself as a revolutionary. Petroff declared that M. Gopon thereby condemned himself.

Indications point to a general resumption of work in the Moscow mills and factories on Tuesday. The university will reopen on Thursday.

Grand Duke Sergius will return to St. Petersburg tomorrow.

STRIKE LIKELY IN CENTRAL PENNSYLVANIA FIELD

Operators Will Demand a Decrease in Wages Which Miners Will Resist.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ALTOONA, Jan. 29.—Indications in the Central Pennsylvania field point to a hot contest over the wage scale. The operators are determined when the convention meets in Altoona March 17 to demand a material reduction. A strike involving 40,000 men is probable.

Operators say that the competition of the southern fields and the great difference in freight rates have made the last year unprofitable. It is predicted the operators will demand a reduction of 10 to 20 per cent. The miners claim the reduction will be resisted. They say living expenses have not decreased and that they see no reason for accepting smaller wages for the same work.

If the Central Pennsylvania operators force a reduction competing companies will demand a like decrease.

STEUBENVILLE, O., Jan. 29.—(Special.)—With a smile that disarmed suspicion, Milka Tarivosky, a young man, approached Joseph Fekrel in a saloon here late last night and before bystanders could interfere, plunged a knife into the other's breast. Fekrel fell mortally wounded. Tarivosky fled.

The two were rival suitors for the hand of a Hungarian girl, and it is said that Fekrel was received with the greatest favor. The police are searching for Tarivosky, but he is being concealed by friends. Fekrel is dying.

GOPON CENSURED BY HOLY SYNOD

Circular to Orthodox Declares Strike Priest Disdained His Sacred Vow.

RUSSIA'S FOES MADE TROUBLE

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 29.—The holy synod has addressed the following circular to the orthodox with reference to recent events:

At the moment when all should have stood united for the protection of the fatherland, strikers broke out in the capital and other towns, incited by enemies at home and abroad. Tens of thousands of the orthodox gave up work, determined forcibly to obtain rights which, they alleged, had been trampled under foot. Many peaceful citizens were deprived of bread and many of their comrades uselessly forfeited their lives.

Those who led them astray had in their midst a criminal priest, who impudently disdained his sacred vow and is now before the ecclesiastical court. He was not ashamed to give into the hands of the workmen he had deceived the holy cross and pictures, and the church banners which he had forcibly taken from a chapel, in order, under the protection of the sacred relics so dear to the faithful, to lead men to disturbances, and some even to death.

The most grievous fact is that the disturbances were caused and brought by Russian enemies, and that considerable sums of money were received to create civil war, and, by drawing men from their work, to prevent the due dispatch of land and sea forces to the far east and supplying the active army with all its needs. Russia's enemies are striving to shake down her pillars of orthodoxy and autocracy, without which Russia would come to ruin. What a grief it is that orthodox people should rise against the lawful power and against one another, while their brothers are fighting in the far east and the emperor and empress are endeavoring to alleviate the sufferings of the wounded.

The circular concludes with adjuring the people to render obedience to the emperor and the authorities. "Let the clergy," it says, "admonish their flocks to keep the peace. Let those in power seek the truth and defend the oppressed. Let the rich do good and let the workers obey God's commands and beware of false counsellors, who are the associates or are in the pay of the enemy and desirous of bringing Russia to ruin."

SYMPATHY FOR RUSSIANS EXPRESSED BY RIOTS

Meetings Occur in Naples, Rome and Other Cities Throughout Italy.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

ROME, Jan. 29.—Many meetings were held today in the principal towns of Italy to protest against the alleged Russian cruelties. The more notable of these meetings were at Naples, Pisa, Ancona, Messina, Genoa and Brindisi. At the last named place an attempt was made to pull down the Russian arms from the door of the consulate.

In Rome, notwithstanding a prohibition by the government and a great display of troops, 5,000 of which had been brought in from the provinces to reinforce the ordinary garrison, about 3,000 people assembled and tried to break through the cordon of troops and reach the capital. There were cries of "Long live the Russian revolution!" and "Down with the autocracy and the Cossacks!" The troops, which included carbineers, infantry, cavalry and artillery, charged the crowds several times.

Being unable to force their way to the capital the mob went to the royal palace but were again dispersed, regathering in lesser number at the Russian embassy, where they were finally scattered by more energetic cavalry charges. Several persons were wounded and many arrests were made.

WORKMEN ARE FEARED BY RUSSIAN STUDENTS

Gen. Trepoff Aiding the Former, but Is Severe on the Socialists.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

(Copyright, 1905, by New York Herald Co.)

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 29.—All students carefully kept out of sight today, having been warned that such was the anger of the workmen at the students who had deceived them that they would attack them on sight.

Gen. Trepoff is examining carefully into the possibilities of improving the condition of the workmen, at the same time adopting the severest measures against Socialists and revolutionaries.

No coercion exists against foreign workmen who do not desire to return to the factories, but strict measures are taken against their preventing those anxious to work from doing so. It is expected that the Putiloff works will be in full swing tomorrow or at the latest on Tuesday.

CHINESE GOVERNMENT OPENLY FOR JAPAN

Large Orders for War Material Placed. Cash Payments Cause Surprise.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

(Copyright, 1905, by New York Herald Co.)

PEKIN, Jan. 29.—The effect of the fall of Port Arthur upon the Russians in North China is nil. Their attitude is the same as before. All have faith in Russia's ultimate victory.

Japanese successes have marked effect on the Chinese, however. Pro-Japanese sentiments are more openly expressed than ever by the Chinese government. The Chinese are placing very large orders for arms and ammunitions, and cash payments for these cause surprise, considering the condition of Chinese finances. Japanese influences, moreover, predominate in all branches of the Chinese government.

Made Plea for Gorki.

BERLIN, Jan. 29.—Dr. Theodore Barth, editor of The Nation, speaking at the meeting of authors and artists held here to formulate plans to secure the release of Maxim Gorki, the Russian author, who is confined in the fortress at St. Petersburg, said he hoped editors, writers and cultivated persons in America would petition the Russian government in Gorki's behalf.

Promise Aid to Russians.

BOSTON, Jan. 29.—Fifteen hundred people at Faneuil hall tonight applauded sentiments denouncing the Russian aristocracy and promising financial aid to the revolutionists. Abraham Kohn of New York said he had received dispatches stating that the leaders of the revolutionary movement intended to keep the movement alive until their demands had been granted.

Many Arrests at Sevastopol.

LONDON, Jan. 30.—A dispatch to the Daily Graphic from Sevastopol says: "In consequence of the gravity of the situation here the government has invested the naval and military commanders with full powers to repress disorders. Over 900 arrests have been made."

Consul to Look After Japanese.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 29.—Thomas Smith, United States vice consul at Moscow, has gone to Medved to investigate the condition of Japanese prisoners there at the request of the Japanese government.

Gen. Mischenko Wounded.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 29.—A telegram from Huan mountain states that Gen. Mistchenko has been wounded in the leg.

Holdup Suspects Arrested.

John Slattery of 262 Sandusky street, Allegheny, Bernard Rodges of Morgan street, Robert Berry of Morgan street and James Lewis of the Twenty-fifth ward were arrested by the South Side police yesterday on suspicion of being implicated in a number of holdups and robberies on that side of the river.

4 Prizes, $25.00 each	100.00	225 Prizes, aggregating	$1,800.00

READ CAREFULLY THE CONDITIONS OF THE CONTEST.

The conditions governing the contest follow: No answer which does not exactly conform to them will be considered.

All answers must be upon GAZETTE blanks, which will be printed with each Proverb Picture. Only one answer will be allowed on each blank.

ANSWERS MUST NOT BE SENT IN UNTIL THE CLOSE OF THE CONTEST. But all answers must be in the Gazette office within two weeks after the last Proverb Picture is printed.

The blank forms will be numbered and answers must be neatly arranged in numerical order by the contestants. At the close of the contest answers should be sent by mail postpaid, addressed to Manager Proverb Contest, THE GAZETTE, PITTSBURGH, PA., or they may be left in sealed envelopes at our Business Office, Wood street and Oliver Avenue, addressed as above.

Do not send the pictures. SEND ONLY THE ANSWER BLANK. The blanks may be filled out in any legible way.

Contestants may send in as many sets of answers as they please, but each set must be in a different envelope. Each set will be treated separately, BUT NO CONTESTANT WILL BE AWARDED MORE THAN ONE PRIZE. Contestants may send in duplicate answers to the same Proverb Picture, but they must be on separate blanks; that is, they may fill out two or more No. 1s or 2s, etc. These duplicates must be kept together in making up the sets of answers.

Reasonable neatness will be taken into consideration in awarding the prizes.

Contestants may secure assistance from any source. Everybody is eligible except employes of The Pittsburgh Gazette.

The manager of the Proverb Contest distinctly reserves the right to make any change in or addition to these conditions that he may deem necessary for properly conducting the contest.

The proverbs selected for this contest are those in common use and will not be hard to solve, but be careful to get the correct wording and punctuation and see that each word is spelled correctly. You will find this contest an education for old and young. Enter it at once.

RUSSIANS WERE REPULSED

weather conditions till then will be unfavorable. Gen. Kuropatkin now is merely preparing the way and sharpening his troops which have recently arrived."

Gen. Sakharoff's dispatch was dated January 29, and said:

"On January 26 the enemy began to concentrate in considerable force near Sandepas, intending to take the offensive. On January 27 our column on the extreme left took the offensive against the villages of Sumapu and Paotaia, south of Sandepas, which were occupied by the enemy. During the whole of January 27 an obstinate fight was going on here, and after midnight we took Sumapu.

Russian Troops Retired.

"On January 26 another column advancing upon Sandepas occupied in the evening a great part of that fortified village; but, coming upon a strong redoubt with a triple row of artificial obstacles which had been scarcely damaged by our fire and which was armed with field artillery and quick-firers, and seeing the impossibility of carrying the redoubt without a preliminary bombardment, our troops left Sandepas, which had been set on fire, it being impossible to remain there without risking defeat.

"On January 27 and 28 Sandepas and its redoubt were heavily bombarded, while our extreme column engaged near Samapu and Paotaia. Details have not been received. On January 27 our cavalry, operating six miles south of Sandepas, attacked and defeated a Japanese company and took 100 prisoners. Altogether the Japanese must have suffered considerable loss."

Battle Commenced at Daylight.

SZEFANGTAI, 60 VERSTS SOUTHWEST OF MUKDEN, Jan. 28, via Pekin, Jan. 29.—A battle commenced at daylight January 25. The right flank, reinforced by troops from the east, began a movement against the Japanese left. One corps leaving Szefangtai at midnight, January 24, marched about seven miles southwest and at daylight attacked. The infantry, backed up by artillery, drove the Japanese from two villages at midday after a sharp fight and continued to make progress, the rest of the right flank becoming engaged. The Russian artillery fire was heavy, but the Japanese remained almost silent. The captured village presented a warlike picture, with Japanese and Russian dead lying side by side in the streets. The Russian infantry kept under cover of the walls and houses to protect themselves from the Japanese fire from adjoining villages.

Villages Rich in Foodstuffs.

The country is flat and thickly populated and the villages are large and rich in foodstuffs. It is snowing and bitterly cold and the troops eagerly seek the protection of the villages, which, in this district, have escaped destruction. On January 28 there was a heavy fire along the right flank front and an advance was made. The wind at the Russians' back drove the snow into the faces of the Japanese, and it was very difficult to see any distance. One Siberian rifle regiment suffered somewhat heavy losses. January 27 the fighting continued on the right flank, but it does not seem to be developing along the center of the eastern flank. Probably the cold weather prevents a further continuance of the battle. There is more artillery on both sides than in any former battle of history.

GEN. OKU'S HEADQUARTERS, VIA FUSAN, Jan. 28.—(Delayed.)—The Russian force to Gen. Oku's extreme left, numbering more than two divisions, centered at Pekowati yesterday afternoon. One division attacked in the vicinity of Shentanpu, a few miles east of Pekowati. The Russian advance guard drove them back, inflicting serious damage.

Fighting Again Resumed.

A rifle and artillery fire and a general bombardment along the whole front continued all day yesterday and was resumed at daylight this morning. Beginning on the extreme left it rapidly spread along the whole front of Oku's army. It was kept up fiercely all day and it was the strongest artillery fire since the battle of the Shakhe river. Salvos are being fired continuously. There also is considerable musketry firing. The Japanese are replying seldom and are saving their fire, awaiting an attack. There is a possibility that the entire line will be engaged soon.

CHEFOO, Jan. 29.—Three steamers carrying 2,000 Russian refugees left here today for Odessa. Two junks, the vanguard of 25 which left Port Arthur January 27, arrived here today. The coldest weather of the season was experienced during the trip and a majority of the women and children aboard were nearly frozen.

Will Improve the Service.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 29.—The Russkai Slavo of Moscow publishes an interview with Prince Hilkoff, the minister of communications, in which he states the double tracking of the Siberian railway is impossible for the purposes of the present war, but that minor improvements, especially the construction of sidings, will bring up the carrying capacity of the road to the equivalent of 22 trains each way daily. At present there are only 18 trains daily each way.

AIRSHIP FLIGHT IS SUCCESSFUL

"The California Arrow" Propelled With Accuracy at Los Angeles.

CROWDS CHEERED AERONAUT

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

LOS ANGELES, CAL., Jan. 29.—Roy Knabenshue, the aeronaut, made a successful flight in Capt. Baldwin's airship, "The California Arrow," this afternoon. Knabenshue was in flight about 45 minutes, during which time he circled within a radius of about one mile of the park, executing all sorts of maneuvers with the big aerial craft, returning finally and landing within the enclosure at the baseball park, from which he started. Immense throngs gathered at the park, the Chutes and the streets for blocks distant to watch the flight.

When about 700 feet high, Knabenshue began his maneuvers, turning the craft in every direction, describing complete circles within a small radius, crossing and recrossing the park.

Capt. Baldwin has fitted "The Arrow" with a new and more powerful motor and today this important work of the mechanism worked to perfection. At no time did the ship rise to a height of more than 1,500 feet and the manipulation of the mechanism of the airship by the operator was plainly visible to the spectators below. Knabenshue finally brought "The Arrow" back to the starting point, dropping the anchorage rope, which hung from the framework of the airship, within 50 yards from where he arose. When the rope touched earth the aeronaut stopped the motor and the big gas bag was gently lowered to the ground. The big crowd broke into cheers as Knabenshue alighted from the airship.

LARKIN WILL OPEN FIGHT.

To Speak at Meeting in South Side Turner Hall.

There has been much comment on the slowness of action of the supporters of Controller John B. Larkin, as evidenced by the fact not only that not a single public meeting has been held, but no announcement of impending meetings has been made. Controller Larkin himself may have grown restive, for at his instance a call will be issued today for a mass meeting in the South Thirteenth street Turner hall on Thursday night, when the controller himself will speak. This will be a meeting for three wards, the Twenty-fifth, Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh.

The joint steering committee of Democrats, Citizens, Orphans and the Young Men's "Republican" club, will meet on Wednesday night to arrange campaign work by each of the organizations, so that none may conflict or expense be duplicated.

TRAVELS 1,000 MILES TO SEE "PARSIFAL"

George Edwardes, the famous English theatrical manager, will make a flying trip to Pittsburgh today to witness the first performance here of "Parsifal" in English. The journey of 1,000 miles, from and to New York city, is a small matter to him, for in order to witness the production in New York city of "The Duchess of Dantzic," he undertook a 6,000-mile ocean voyage. Mr. Edwardes returns to New York immediately after the performance tonight.

ALLEGED LETTER MAY NOW BE INVESTIGATED

Resolution to Be Introduced at Charleston, W. Va.—Wisher in Pittsburgh.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHARLESTON, W. VA., Jan. 29.—Legislative circles are much excited over the alleged letter from United States Marshal C. D. Elliott to John Worthington, legislative agent of the Standard Oil Company, of Pittsburgh. Not for years has there been such a sensation connected with a meeting of the West Virginia legislature. Senator Cornwell will introduce a joint resolution tomorrow morning demanding the appointment of a committee armed with full power to investigate.

Gov.-elect Dawson this afternoon gave out the following: "I have never made any deal directly or indirectly with the Standard Oil Company or any other corporation or interest whereby they put any money into the campaign. I have never promised to do or not to do anything as governor or otherwise on account of support given or not given to me either in the campaign for the nomination or the campaign for election."

Secretary of State-elect Wisher is in Pittsburgh.

Worthington arrived here today from Pittsburgh, but had nothing to say beyond the fact that he knew nothing of the alleged letter until he saw a copy in a newspaper here.

LIBERAL AID FOR ORPHANS

Largest Christmas Collection Ever Made Because of Bishop Phelan's Last Appeal.

CATHOLICS HELP PARENTLESS

All but 20 of the 162 parish churches of the Pittsburgh Roman Catholic diocese have made returns of the Christmas collections taken up for the orphan asylum at Idlewood. The response to the late Bishop Phelan's last appeal for the orphans was most gratifying, for the result, as compiled by Father Michael Lynch, treasurer of the asylum, shows that the aggregate sum, even with the 20 parishes still to hear from, is greater by $2,000 than any collection for the orphans ever before made in the Pittsburgh diocese.

The total of the collections mentioned below is $19,299.84, and it is expected that the 20 small congregations still to be heard from will bring the amount up to $19,399.84. Father Lynch believes that the phenomenal increase in the sum of the collections this time is because of the interest in the orphans aroused by Bishop Phelan's letter, his last official act, for every Catholic knew of the bishop's love for the orphans; knew that the bishop himself had given most liberally of his own possessions to the asylum, and believed that they could show to their dead bishop no greater honor than by contributing liberally to the cause that lay so close to his heart.

The subscription turned in by the Church of the Epiphany is, of course, by far larger than that of any other congregation, for the Epiphany church takes at present the place of the cathedral and counts among its present members most of those who made old St. Paul's their parish church. The subscription from the Epiphany is larger that any Christmas collection ever taken up for the orphans at St. Paul's. The subscriptions are as follows:

NEWS FOR BUSINESS MEN.

An Interesting Book Unfolding Trade Secrets to Be Issued.

About February 12 the Protzman-Barr Company of this city will issue for distribution in the cities of the United States and Canada a book of truths bringing to light important plans which have contributed to make some business men very wealthy. The book is an illustrated copyright edition entitled "Are Most Business Men Reaching for Money With a Rake That's too Short?"

The edition will be limited and sent free to such applicants as are engaged in business.

Judging from the advance proof sheets no merchant, manufacturer, banker, broker or seller of any product or investment should be without this book.

The information it imparts has been drawn from active practice, and is a lesson on how money can be made faster than most business men are making it.

QUIT CHURCH TO FIGHT FIRE

A Blaze in Oakdale, Which Caused $20,000 Loss, Brings Worshipers to Rescue.

SAFE HURLED FROM BUILDING

Fire of mysterious origin caused a $20,000 loss in the borough of Oakdale shortly after 11 o'clock yesterday morning, and created great excitement among the residents. The congregation of the Presbyterian church, which was at worship, left their pews at the sound of the fire whistle and, rushing from the church, formed a bucket brigade and successfully fought the flames which threatened the whole community.

Jacob Coleman, employed in the livery stable of James Cole, discovered flames pouring from the third floor of the four-story frame grist mill of Harry Ross. Ross was in the office of the mill on the ground floor, unconscious of the fire. The volunteer fire department responded at the call of the fire whistle, and while they are equipped with modern hose, were unable to render full service, owing to low pressure of water. While the building was enveloped by flames, Ross rushed to the second floor and managed to drag a small iron safe to one of the windows and hurled it into the street. He then found all escape cut off, and jumped after the safe into the street. He was shaken up and sustained several bruises, but was not seriously injured.

The grist mill, and all it contained, was destroyed and the fire then communicated to the freight warehouse of the Panhandle railroad. A wrecking train was pressed into service and the warehouse was spared from the flames, after one end had been burned. The livery stable of James Cole also sustained considerable damage, but all its contents were removed without injury.

As there was no fire in the grist mill other than in a small stove in the office on the ground floor, beside which Ross sat, the origin of the fire on the third floor is a mystery.

DEMAND IS MADE FOR A LOWER WATER TAX

City Enables South Side Concern to Keep High Rates.

The Republicans in common council will make a determined effort to have the water tax reduced. There is a demand from the South Side and the Thirty-seventh ward for a reduction of water rents by the city, because the Monongahela Water Company on the South Side and the Pennsylvania Water Company in the Thirty-seventh ward are permitted under the law to charge rates equal to those charged by the city. As long as the present high rates are maintained by the city the consumers on the South Side and the Thirty-seventh ward, whose supply by private water companies is the cause of much complaint, must pay as much, if not more, than the consumers in other sections of the city.

"There is a big profit in the water bureau," said Councilman Brand, the Republican floor leader in common council, yesterday. "The sub-committee has appropriated $381,821 to pay all the expense of the water bureau this year, and the sub-committee estimates the revenues from the bureau at $1,050,000, a difference of $668,179. Of course, the payment on water bonds and interest must be deducted, but last year the net profit in the water bureau amounted to over 25 per cent of the revenues.

"I have been reliably informed that the installation of meters by the department of public works, instead of making water cheaper for the consumer, has increased the cost. Wherever the meters have been put in, the first month's consumption, at meter rates, was taken as the basis of the cost for the entire year, and in every instance the consumer is paying more than he did before the meters were installed."

Although $350,047 in water rents became delinquent and was not collected in 1904, the sub-committee on appropriations has not allowed for a dollar in water rents to go delinquent in 1905, and estimates the total amount of $1,050,000 will be collected. This one item alone shows an inflation of almost one mill.

The amount of water rents that went delinquent last year was over 32 per cent of the total amount levied. The city treasurer's report, made in last October, after the last collection of city taxes and water rents had been finished, shows that only $737,762 47 was collected out of a total assessment of $1,106,602 20, less exonerations amounting to $18,791 84.

Admitted Stealing Milk.

James Dickson, colored, of Taylor street, was arrested early yesterday morning in Pacific avenue, while carrying a basketful of milk bottles. He admitted he had been taking milk from residences along Pacific avenue and was held over for an investigation by Magistrate Kane.

88 NOTES

—that's the ENTIRE Keyboard of a piano and the

is the ONLY Piano and Player combined that can and does play the Piano CORRECTLY; for no other Player uses more than just a few octaves in the Center of the Piano. The Self-playing Part being built inside the Piano, there is not that unsightly, box-like affair to destroy the pleasing arrangement of your Parlor. Ask to hear a piece on the APOLLO-PIANO, then listen to the same composition on the little 5-octave players elsewhere.

We are showing this week a Marvel of Artistic Work, a Miniature

MIDWINTER SALE OF PIANOS

Stocking taking begins today. That means general house cleaning with us. Discontinued styles, samples, used pianos; everything not in regular stock will be offered at prices that won't long go begging. And, chief of all, an unparalleled offer in pianos, is this lot of

ELEVEN NEW FISCHERS

The regular prices of which are $425 to $475.

You know how dreadfully cold it was last week, and you can imagine what the delicate finish of a carload of pianos would have to undergo while held up in the storm-swept Alleghenies. Only the varnish is affected, and that but little—in every other detail we guarantee these pianos absolutely. To make the finish without a flaw again would entail a great expense and two months' delay, and as the damage is not glaring, we believe that there are piano buyers of economical turn of mind who would appreciate a saving of

$75 to $100

In the purchase of a good piano, when they are assured of the perfect musical value of the instrument.

Come and see these goods. It is worth your while, we assure you.

The New Things for Spring

are beginning to make their appearance and it will not be long, counting by weeks, before the store will be aglow with all the beauty of Spring fabrics and ready-to-wear garments.

Early February shopping has this diversity: Many new things for Spring at most modest prices—end-of-the-season fabrics and wearables for reduced prices upon which are imprinted astonishment. Below good words for new things, good words for things of the immediate present.

Our Saving Prices on Men's Clothes.

The wise man, who always has his eye on his pocketbook, buys his clothes now. So far as we are concerned the end of the winter season is at hand. We are willing to let go of our Totally Different Clothing for losing prices. It is better to put what money can be obtained for clothes at the end of season into goods for the incoming season. Thus it is

Men Can Buy for $35 Overcoats That Formerly Sold for $45 & $50

Even supposing you have a fairly good overcoat that will last you through the Winter, is it not good business to look ahead to next Winter? The money you put into an overcoat now would not gain nearly so much in any other channel as it will by investment in a fine outer coat laid away for next Winter.

On other grades of overcoats we submit some quotations showing very clearly what saving is obtained by acting at once:

$11.00 for $16.50 Overcoats.	$18.50 for $25.00 Overcoats.
$12.50 for $18.00 Overcoats.	$22.50 for $30.00 Overcoats.
$14.00 for $20.00 Overcoats.	$30.00 for $40.00 Overcoats.

As for stylish sack suits for everyday wear, and for those who like sack suits for dress-up occasions, we are offering our entire stock of plain color and fancy mixed suits—single and double-breasted styles—for the most satisfactory kind of reduced prices.

Shirtwaists and Blouses.

New Styles for Spring and Summer.

These are advance styles just brought out, made especially for us. Pretty things of mull and linen—many of them embroidered by hand, others, again, trimmed with dainty lace, still others having a great deal of English embroidery.

The new waists have the collars attached, and there are two styles—open front and open back.

We also have quite a lot of new waists of that favorite and very sheer material, India Linon.

We are speaking, you will understand, of fine waists, and the prices begin at $5.00 and run up to $45.00.

A Reef in the Prices of French Hand-Made Garments for Babies.

'Tisn't every youngster around Pittsburg that is permitted to wear French garments, for, to tell the truth, they are often a bit high, for which you can blame Uncle Sam. He exacts a pretty big duty. But we are going to put out today some of our finest baby goods for prices seldom quoted on anything that comes from Paris. A few hints:

$6.50 for $8.50 and $10.00 Long Dresses.
$12.50 for $15.00 to $18.00 Long Dresses.
$15.00 for $25.50 Long Dresses.
$20.00 for $40.00 Long Dresses.

The materials in these dresses are the finest made. Only fair to advise you that they are more or less mussed.

And here follow some short dresses, sizes for 6 months and 1 and 2 years.

$2.75 for $3.50 Short Dresses.
$3.00 for $4.50 Short Dresses.
$8.00 for $11.00 Short Dresses.
$9.00 for $12.00 Short Dresses.
$10.00 for $15.00 Short Dresses.
$12.00 for $18.00 Short Dresses.

We will offer today two very fine Silk Lined Dresses, elaborately trimmed, 2 and 3-year sizes—were $65.00, today's price, each..... $25.00

French Hand-Made Bibs at $2.00 from $3.00; at $2.50 from $4.75 and $6.00, and up to finest for relative reductions.

"Maryland" Biscuit,

And the Machine With Which to Make Them.

The common acceptation of the Maryland Biscuit is that it is hard biscuit. Many women know that to make a hard biscuit means lots of muscle work in beating the dough.

This machine is intended to do away with that part of the work and it succeeds admirably. All one has to do is to put the dough in the trough and turn the crank—the machine does the rest. Over East no cook would think of entering a kitchen that did not have one of these biscuit machines.

On sale in our West Basement, Household Department.

While we are at it we might as well call your attention to a lot of other good things for the household to be found down there:

Wooden Plant Stands, $1.75 and $2.00.
Sleeve Ironing Boards, 25c.
Kitchen Cabinet Tables, complete, $3.50.
Clothes Horses, the 85c kind, for 45c.
Gas Portables, all complete, $1.25.
Stag Mantles, 90c for a dozen.
Hygienic Water Filters, to screw on faucet, 25c.
Kitchen Stone Mixing Bowls, a nest of seven sizes for $1.25.
Round Baking Dishes, 10c, 15c, 18c, 20c, 25c, 30c.

New Shepherd Check Suitings.

There is great enthusiasm over the new shepherd checks, and their popularity is at its height. They are in the lead for the stylish pleated shirtwaist suits.

Of course the women of Pittsburg look to us for a collection of these checks, and they are right in assuming that variety will only be found here. We are showing pretty combinations of white with black, with blue, with brown, at 75c, $1.00, $1.25 and $1.50 a yard.

Our Worthy Collection of Imported Dress Cottons.

They are worthy of the woman who seeks the distinction of being the best dressed woman at her seaside resort next Summer; they are worthy of the woman who looks no higher than to be neatly and simply dressed; they are worthy of the woman who likes to number among her trousseaux the finest cotton dresses that can be obtained. We bring these beautiful Summery fabrics from abroad in the most liberal variety, and we sell them for the most moderate prices. As we are entering midwinter we have pleasure in exhibiting midsummer dress cottons, such as

Embroidered Louisines,
Embroidered Mulls,
Embroidered Mohair Swisses,
Embroidered Check Voiles,
Embroidered Pongees,
Printed Tulles, Embroidered Gauzes.
Printed Mousseline d'Inde,
Printed Organdies,
Printed Dimities,
Drawnwork Voiles,
Checked Voiles,

Monday, January 30, 1905.

The contention of the tariff revisers that the present schedules oppress the commercial development of the country is not borne out by statistics. In 1896 when the present tariff was adopted our exports of domestic manufactures amounted to $177,800,969. Since then they have increased year by year until in 1903 they reached in value the amount of $421,453,915. The report for the calendar year of 1904 has recently been compiled and it appears that the amount increased to $502,764,729. Such a showing makes a cogent argument in favor of the let well-enough-alone policy.

City Solicitor Rodgers' decision that the item of $205,000 for a new central high school must go in the appropriations is disappointing. It is a disappointment to the city financiers who have been trying to keep down the millage and to the public, which had hoped the central board of education would be forced to make a rational solution of the high school site question. The people at large would be glad to see this money appropriated if there was any assurance it would be used properly toward the prompt construction of a new high school in an accessible locality, on a site not purchased at a price far in excess of its value. They will be obliged to submit to the law in any case and the city solicitor knows the law.

Among his varied accomplishments President Roosevelt includes that of being a good preacher. His address yesterday at the re-dedication of the Lutheran Place Memorial church in Washington was an admirable discourse full of that edifying quality which marks all the president's utterances upon moral and religious questions. And his words possess a force and influence which make them effective to an extent not ordinarily within the reach of the pulpit. It is a grand thing for the nation that the voice of its chief magistrate should be thus potent in inspiration for good, for it is profoundly true, as the president says, that "in the last analysis the work of statesmen and soldiers, the work of the public men, shall go for nothing if it is not based upon the spirit of Christianity working in the millions of homes throughout this country so that there shall be that social, that spiritual, that moral foundation without which no country can ever rise to permanent greatness."

The plan Mr. Phipps has promulgated of building model tenements in New York city calls attention to the fact that the laws enacted there a few years ago to secure sanitary plumbing, light, air and safety from fire have been neglected, even in erecting new buildings. A part of this failure is due to the fact that the law was being tested in the courts, which have now affirmed it. The principal reason the officers winked at violation of building laws was because Tammany is in power and that organization offers immunities for sale. Now there is a revival of interest in the prosecution of offenders and an apparent intention on the part of the mayor to have building laws enforced. The result has been an accumulation of cases which are really burdensome to many property owners, although they have only themselves to blame. Recognizing the necessity of having changes made there have been societies formed to aid landlords by advancing them money to put in the improvements ordered.

It is difficult to account for a resumption of fighting in Manchuria except upon the supposition that the Russian government desires to make some diversion to influence public sentiment. Russian reports of Saturday's date are vague, but admit retreat, although the claim is made that considerable damage was inflicted upon the Japanese. Japanese reports of yesterday are specific in accounts of Russian repulses at various points and it is stated that pursuit of the retreating enemy is now going on. It is reported that 500 Russian officers and men have been captured and that the casualties on both sides are under investigation. The main fact that the Russian attack has been repulsed appears in both sets of reports, so that no military advantage has resulted to the Russians from these midwinter operations, which must have been attended by terrible suffering. The Russian reports say that it is snowing and bitterly cold. Under such circumstances a disabling wound is almost certain to be fatal, as the wounded must freeze to death.

The opinion of our naval experts in favor of the battleship as the main factor of naval strength is now sustained by what must be regarded as the weightiest testimony that could possibly be advanced. There is no test equal to that of practical experience and as the result of the experience which Japan is now having the government of that country has adopted a naval program. They are to be of such size that Japan will have to construct the biggest docks in the world to accommodate them. The armament is to be correspondingly heavy. Ten-inch guns will be the smallest caliber carried, and besides 12 of these big guns, each battleship will carry four 12-inch guns, so that altogether 9,400 pounds of metal will be thrown at each discharge of the entire armament. The strongest English battleship as now designed will throw 7,200 pounds. In view of the growing importance of the battleship it is unfortunate that the house of representatives is disposed to curtail the naval program of our government by authorizing only two instead of three battleships at this session.

Greater Pittsburgh Progress.

Good, practical progress was made at the Greater Pittsburgh meeting in the chamber of commerce on Saturday. Arrangements were made for the widest co-operation of organizations interested in the subject, for representatives to follow the course of the legislation at Harrisburg, for combating the selfish pleas of local office-holders, for a general educational campaign and for urging the passage of a practical enabling act. The most important of these measures are the co-operation of all organizations, the close following and vigorous urging of the legislation. The remainder will all come out in the voting.

During 10 years past there has been an active educational campaign on this question through the columns of every newspaper in Pittsburgh. The people of the entire territory affected have considered the matter and decided for themselves what attitude to take on it. Aside from the few who hold office in the affected municipalities and others who have personal, selfish interest in maintaining the status quo, the opposition to consolidation is a negligible quantity. The vast majority of the people from Emsworth and Coraopolis to the mouth of the Youghiogheny and Brush creek are in favor of the consolidated city for both sentimental and practical reasons. When the vote is taken this will be found to be true. These people are intelligent. In the more than 10 years of study of the subject they have ascertained the immense advantage of the greater city. They are ready to vote for it. They are simply awaiting a rational process that will give them the opportunity to vote.

Increase of Steamboating.

Referring again to the silly article in one of the popular magazines, which asserted the decline and extinction of steamboating, incidental to the exploitation of some yarns of adventure, it is pertinent to offer some statistics. By the report of Commissioner of Navigation Chamberlain for 1904 it may be learned there were 486 steamboats enrolled along the Ohio river. In 1866 there were 172. The local records of tonnage were destroyed in the custom house fire a few years ago, but it is matter of common knowledge that steamboats now in service will average much higher than at the beginning or close of the war.

On this showing it is apparent the steamboating business of the Ohio river must have increased fully 200 per cent since the days referred to by the magazine writer as having marked the beginning of the decline. In other words the steamboating business on the Ohio is at least three times as great as then and it is increasing, despite the large element of chance involved in waiting for navigable water.

On the Mississippi river the increase has not been in the same proportion as on the Ohio, yet there has been an increase. One of the palatial steamers now plying that stream can carry four times as much freight and twice as many passengers as one of those ante-bellum steamboats, which would jeopardize its existence to beat a rival to a landing for 100 pounds of cargo. The business is on different lines now, but it is larger. No one has ever seriously attempted to prove the contrary.

Europe Disturbed.

The contagion of sympathy to which Europe is exposed by the outbreak of popular revolt anywhere is shown by the disturbances which have been excited by the news from Russia. At a number of points in Italy yesterday there were popular demonstrations of sympathy with the Russian strikers, and at Rome the troops came into collision with the mob, charging them repeatedly and injuring a number of persons. Such occurrences strengthen the adherents of absolutism in Russia by furnishing them with an argument that representative institutions afford no cure for popular discontent and that the introduction of liberal reforms in Russia would simply level the dykes before the rising tide of socialism. It seems to be the case that the labor revolt in Russia has weakened the reform movement and according to the latest reports the czar will adopt a program of social reform as a substitute for political reform. Old age insurance and other expedients for the amelioration of the lot of the workers are to be tried under state control, after the model furnished by Germany. The expectation is that the working classes will be detached from the cause of political reform and made allies of the autocracy. The more probable result is that the revolutionary movement will be recruited by accessions from the classes which are now seeking to open channels of constitutional progress.

New Possibilities of Plant Life.

The decision of the Carnegie Institute to appropriate $10,000 a year for 10 years to Luther Burbank to enable him to pursue his studies of plant life will meet with general approval. Money has been spent by the institute to help men making theoretical experiments which might add to human knowledge, but could not contribute to the comfort of human life or increase the earth's productiveness. Mr. Burbank has been called a wizard by those who have been amazed at the results he produced, but it is not a fair description of the painstaking man who works with a scientist's accuracy and care and makes no haphazard experiments. By constant selection he produced a seedless plum, but it was not chance, for he used over 250,000 plants in producing the one variety that he sought. Thousands of sprouts were employed in grafting before he found a plant that bore the fruit of the proper flavor.

To be sure there is some uncertainty about the plant a new combination may yield, but his success has come from ability to select the promising ones early in their growth. In adding color, fragrance or enlarged petals to flowers he has added to their value as contributors to human happiness, while his accomplishments in the horticultural world have already been of very great economic value. To have paused in his researches to take advantage of the income his new discoveries might afford would have interrupted great possibilities of further achievement. Tempting offers have been made by those who would like to take commercial advantage of the new fruit or flowers he has produced, but now he can afford to turn all these aside and devote the remainder of his activity to the development of this work without anxiety about financial returns. It is for such a genius who ought not to have to consider where his daily bread is to come from that the Carnegie fund is best fitted. Scholarships in universities must necessarily be limited, but the Carnegie Institute can afford to give generously where the merit of achievement promises so well.

County Highway Bridges.

Frank S. Monnett, the former radical attorney general of Ohio, has found a new subject on which to expend his talents. It is a rather more promising field than that in which he was active as a state office-holder. His role then was to attack corporations indiscriminately; now he is looking up county contracts for bridges. He may have obtained his suggestion from Congressman Sibley's recent sensational open letter affecting his home county, which has resulted in a fizzle. At any rate Mr. Monnett is campaigning on somewhat different lines, entering suits against bridge companies charged with collusion in making contracts for county bridges.

Whatever the fate of Mr. Monnett's campaign, he and Mr. Sibley have called attention to a subject worthy of investigation. It would be interesting to have a compilation of the sums expended in Pennsylvania and Ohio for highway bridges during the past 20 years, construction and repair. Probably no one could, at this moment, guess within millions of dollars the total sum. Contracts for this sort of work are let with very little public inspection. It thus becomes a favorable field for minor graft.

A few years ago Blair county was shaken by a bridge scandal that got into the courts. Huntingdon county had another. Former Controller Brown of Westmoreland county stirred up all of the animals by portions of one of his annual reports. Congressman Sibley threw the next bomb. Now Attorney Monnett has attacked the whole system in Ohio. Of course all of these sensations have had to do with the letting of contracts, with alleged possible graft. There is a much larger untouched field in the mismanagement of county bridge affairs, mainly the result of ignorance or indifference. Bridges are annually reconstructed, subject to precisely the same influences of destruction. Bridges are planned absolutely without intelligent consideration of strength or durability. Millions have been squandered on such structures that under intelligent direction would have built many miles of really good roads where none exist.

Directing One's Funeral.

There is no phase of life where inordinate vanity can be so prominent as when a man attempts to dictate his own funeral arrangements. Such minor provisions as the selection of hymns to be sung or bands to be engaged are common, but occasionally a man makes more complete arrangements, such as the selection of his coffin or instructions about the eulogy to be delivered. An Ohio man died recently who had enjoyed his own funeral, for he had assembled his friends to hear a sermon on himself by his pastor when he had reached the age of four score and ought to be officially dead. Curiosity thronged the attendance and the old man no doubt heard with pleasure the good things that the preacher felt obliged to say about him. Now another Ohio man has prepared his funeral oration, dictating it to a phonograph with instructions to have the instrument recite it over his body.

While such anxiety about the funeral is a recognition that death is inevitable, it is a feeble attempt to continue power that the lifeless body will not possess. Life and not death should be the concern of the living, and arrangements made for death should be controlled not by worldly thoughts of oneself, but of what one owes to others.

There is a German proposition for interchange of professors with our universities. There can be no reasonable objection so long as the German lecturers speak in their own language before the English-speaking students. Under those circumstances there will be no importation of heretical doctrines.

The Agitation Was Led by Johnson.

Our esteemed contemporary, The Pittsburgh Gazette, in an editorial concerning the three-cent fare zone trial in Cleveland, says that the credit thereof is due to Mayor Johnson. Not so. The credit is due to the demand of the people that something be done, and to the recognition of this demand by both the mayor and the Cleveland Electric Railway Company. Both the company and his honor had ears to the ground and found that in the minds of the public, whether the fare be lessened or not, the semipternal talk about the affair, unrelieved by action of any kind, had become nauseating.—Cleveland Leader.

Talked of in Gotham

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—The new labor law which requires that each tenement house in which manufacturing is done must have a license, has furnished many unprincipled owners of tenement houses with a new source of income. The license required is furnished free, but it must be framed and posted in the hallway of the building, and the frame is furnished by the department of labor at a cost of $1. During the past week inspectors have been investigating conditions in the tenement houses, and have found that in many cases landlords have charged $1 extra for each room in which manufacturing is carried on. Not all the tenement house owners have taken out these licenses, though the number granted so far is 2,063. The intent of the law is to guarantee proper sanitary conditions before the license is granted, and the inspectors say that conditions in all the buildings so far licensed are excellent. There have been some seizures of clothing made in unlicensed houses, but not because of want of sanitary precautions.

The number of houses on the lower East Side licensed as places where manufacturing may be carried on gives one but a slight idea of the number of people employed in the making of ready-made clothing in their homes. In some of the large tenements practically every room has its quota of workers. In most cases the workers are the women who thus earn a little money during the time they can spare from their household duties. Then there are a large number of aged people, who cannot go out to work, and a comparatively small number of children. In many cases it has been found that men temporarily out of employment have helped their wives at the sewing until something more profitable was found.

Th clothing workers on the East Side are nearly all Italians. Only in Chrystie street are Hebrews found among the home workers. Nearly all the work on clothing that is done in the tenements is what is known as finishing; work that must be done by hand. The machine work is done in large shops, but not what were once called "sweat shops," as the department of labor is too vigilant to allow manufacturing in crowded and unsanitary places. Perfection is not yet reached, but conditions are much better than a few years ago. It is found cheaper to obey the law than to fight it.

Tenement Conditions Improving.

The plan of Henry Phipps to build model tenements in New York, Allegheny and Philadelphia has caused a revival of interest in the conditions of the tenement houses of the crowded sections of New York, and it brings to light the fact that conditions, while still far from what they should be, are much better than a few years ago. People are growing more enlightened these days, and have at last begun to realize that ill health and bad sanitation in one section of the city or country have their ill effect upon the whole body politic. Many hundreds of persons have been awakened from their stupor of self-satisfaction, and have begun to look around, and some of them have got into action. A few men have given voice to their sentiments through the newspapers and the newspapers have created a healthier public sentiment, which has had its effect upon the makers of the law.

The present laws on sanitation are not yet ideal, but if they were thoroughly enforced, conditions would be much improved over what they now are. Even their lax enforcement has done much to correct many evils in the tenement districts, and the worst feature now is the crowding together of buildings to make every inch of ground pay, and the consequent want of light and air. These are the evils that the erection of model tenements will eventually correct. The owners of poorly constructed buildings will be compelled to meet the demand for better quarters or reduce the rents, thus cutting a large hole in their incomes. When it is found that the better class of tenement houses bring better financial returns, the owners will want that sort of buildings.

Charity That Pays Dividends.

There are a number of model tenements in the lower East Side, and every one is paying a good profit. Buildings that have been erected wholly with the idea of charity have at times made more money for their owners than gilt-edged investments further up town. It has been found that tenants, when surrounded by more comfort than they have been accustomed to, take a pride in caring for their rooms, and consequently the cost of repairs, which is a big item in the tenements, has been reduced to a minimum. There is never a vacant apartment in the model buildings, as there are always in the poorer class of buildings, and there is also a waiting list. Thus the income is assured every month, and it has been found that what are considered very low rents insure excellent profits.

One young woman, with a large income and an interest in the poor, purchased an old rookery in the East Side for $200,000 a couple of years ago, and built a house according to her own ideas. She got the land cheap because it had never paid. From the month the building was ready for tenants she made a big profit, and a few weeks ago she sold out at a clear profit on her total investment, besides her monthly income, of over $18,000. The new owners are carrying the building as a profitable investment on the same lines on which it was started as a charity. That is only a sample of the model tenement inventments, and Mr. Phipps will have more trouble keeping the income from his proposed tenements down to 4 per cent than some of the investments he has made for profit.

Voices from the "Amen Corner."

Those who are invited to the "amen corner" dinner at the Fifth Avenue hotel always feel that they have been given seats among the mighty. The "amen corner," where Senator Platt was—and in spite of ex-Gov. Odell, still is—wont to meet his friends, political and otherwise, as an institution, is as old as the political reign of the "Easy Boss," and only history and the oldest inhabitant can tell when that began, but the "amen corner" dinner is only four years old. Those four feasts have proved that the fifth will be a hummer. Though it is an outcropping of political life, politics are always drowned in good fellowship and other more tangible things that are liquid, and all political parties—except the Prohibition party—are well represented.

This year the list of invited guests includes Govs. Higgins of New York, Folk of Missouri, LaFollette of Wisconsin and Douglas of Massachusetts. Besides there will be senators, congressmen and political bosses, little and big, including, it is hardly necessary to state, the "Easy Boss," who made the "amen corner" famous.

It is hoped that all the guests invited may not arrive, or that the police arrangements will be perfect, for on the list are Thomas W. Lawson of Boston, H. H. Rogers and James R. Keene. And everybody knows that the warm feeling among these gentlemen of finance is near the boiling point. But then there is the precaution adopted by the judge in the Goebel cases in Kentucky—the guests can be searched for weapons at the door to the banquet hall.

The Quiet Observer.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

Do you love the country?

The country is particularly fine just now for those who prefer sleighriding by moonlight to moonlight rambling in the good old summer time.

Sleighing! You just ought to pack up and go out into the country districts, not merely into the suburbs of the city, but out into the real thing—fields, woods, farm houses, where there are farm sleds and farm horses.

And when you get there you will find that you won't have to put up a whole day's salary for an hour of sleighing.

Some farmers have real sleighs and jumpers, but most of them have boxes for their big sleds, and these boxes are large enough to comfortably accommodate half a dozen people, but like the old-time stage coach, there is always room for one more.

Five or six couples, with a driver, is about the right thing for a country sleighing party. With such a crowd there isn't any danger of too much monotony therefore no danger of freezing. Monotony tends to slow circulation, chilliness, freezing.

Being packed like sardines in a box with plenty of straw and robes, quilts and blankets, the bunch will keep warm in spite of cold winds and frosty weather.

* * * * *

The distinction of a sleighing party is altogether a secondary consideration, and yet not an unimportant matter, since some country houses are not large enough or not well enough adapted to entertain a big, lively bunch of merrymakers.

Nor do sleighing parties often take the trouble to notify folks of their coming, but just drop in on them suddenly. The surprise caused by the visit adds zest to it.

One of the main reasons why notice is not given is that it saves the folks the trouble and expense of providing supper. A basket of apples, some roasted potatoes and maybe a piece of pie is just as good as a regular meal, for it is not eating they are after. Popcorn and taffy help out wonderfully.

On account of the liability of being hit by a sleighing party farmer folk usually keep a stock of pies, cakes and other cold victuals on hand.

It sometimes happens that the house upon which a descent is made is found closed and dark, the tenants being out on a mission like unto that of their visitors. In such cases the sleigh is headed for some other home, or maybe it follows the tracks of the sleigh leading from this house, thereby not only surprising their intended victims, but the other folks likewise.

* * * * *

The country is not nearly as bleak and cold as it looks just now; at least it doesn't seem so to country folk. Indeed they are enjoying it hugely and instead of it being a season of discontent it is the gayest, jolliest of all the four seasons.

Of course city folk shake and shiver and complain when they get out among the snowdrifts and have to face long, sweeping winds. But they have to face it, for there are no friendly corners only a block away where they may turn into a less exposed path.

But then, the country is not traversed with icy streets, endangering life and limb at every step, nor trolley cars to chase you out of the middle of the highway. There are some trolleys on the side, as it were, enough to scare horses and cause an occasional upset, but that only adds zest to sleighing, provided none is killed or seriously injured.

And then there is a whole lot in being accustomed to the environment of the country. Those who are bred and born and raised there find the city more uncomfortable, if not more disconsolate, than bleak fields and snow-drifted roads.

Aside from feeding his stock the farmer hasn't a great deal to do, so he sits around his fire, reads the papers, or goes to town and looks up on politics, the news of the day and the markets, for he is interested in stocks as well as in stock.

* * * * *

Nor does the up-to-date farmer neglect to inform himself concerning the newest and best things in his line. He used to have to depend on the county fair to get pointers, but now he has the farmers' institute, where he can go and get the very latest, and get it direct from those who found it out.

The state furnishes a portion of the talent, which consists for most part of men employed at the experimental stations. These come prepared, not only to tell the results of their labors at these stations, but to tell how they got them, and to instruct farmers how to get the same or approximate results.

And the farmer takes deep interest in these institutes, makes notes of what he hears, and goes home and arranges to adopt any new or improved methods that apply to his line of work.

O yes, some go home and forget all about it, but these are not in the successful class.

And some of the young folks go for the fun there is in it, but even these are benefited more or less, for truths, like wood ticks, will stick, whether you want them to or not, and burrow into your brain and stay there until they have made a deep and lasting impression.

It is next to impossible to attend a farmers' institute and not carry away something worth while.

* * * * *

You city folks needn't shed any tears nor waste any sympathy on account of the farmer, stuck away out yonder among lonesome, wind-swept fields. He is all right, being well fed, warm and comparatively happy.

What, with buckwheat cakes, fresh pork and sausage, real butter and cream, potatoes, apples, turnips and cabbage, and women folks who know how to fix these up to please his taste and to do him the most good, the farmer isn't begrudging you your job, even if you have a nice office, or shop, or store to work in.

And if you chance to drop in on him the farmer's women folks can hustle around and get up a meal that won't make you sick, nor will it cost you a whole lot. Indeed they rather take delight in bringing out a large assortment of preserves, jellies, jams, canned and dried fruits, all gauged to your taste and equal to your capacity.

No; don't worry about the farmer and his family, away out yonder in the snow. You see, he isn't as far from town as he used to be, having the trolley handy, the telephone in his house and a postal box on his gate post, in which the rural route man leaves the daily papers, letters and packages, and takes letters and packages to the postoffice for him.

If you don't believe the farmer is just now having the time of his life drop in on him and see for yourself.

In the days of old when nights were cold
They piled the logs up high,
The heat was good for burning wood;
The sparks would gayly fly.
But now, alack! in basement black
Each fellow racks his soul,
With groan and grunt he does his stunt
And shovels in the coal.

In days of old when nights were cold
They made the backlogs gleam,
In modern days we've quicker ways;
We just turn on the steam.
But sad to say, the modern way,
Although it's done with ease,
Won't bring the heat our chills to greet,
And so we sit and freeze.

Law on Presidency

By L. W. STRAYER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—The house committee on election of president, vice president and representatives in congress has made a favorable report on a bill to further provide for the presidential succession. The bill has been placed on the calendar and will likely be passed at this session, unless it gets sidetracked by some legislation and becomes lost in the confusion. But it is a measure that will instantly appeal to the members of congress and will not likely arouse any opposition. The present law, which was signed by the president January 19, 1886, provides that in case of "removal, death, resignation or inability of both the president and vice president, the presidency shall fall to the secretary of state, the secretary of the treasury, the secretary of war, the attorney general, the postmaster general, the secretary of the navy and the secretary of the interior," in the order named.

It is provided that they shall "act as president until the disability of the president or vice president is removed, or the president shall be elected." Since this law was enacted two new cabinet offices have been created, secretary of agriculture and secretary of commerce and labor. It is the purpose of the law now before the house to add these two cabinet officers to the line of succession. One could scarcely imagine circumstances under which all of those whom the law prescribes as eligible to the presidency by succession might be removed or disabled, and yet it must be admitted that there is such a possibility and the best interests of the government demand that every precaution possible be taken against such a contingency.

Might Have Been no President.

Previous to the enactment of the present law the president pro tempore of the senate and the speaker of the house were respectively in the line of succession to the presidency. A situation developed under the administration of President Cleveland in 1885 that showed the necessity of changing the law then in force. Mr. Hendricks, the vice president, died in 1885, which left the succession to the president pro tempore of the senate, and then to the speaker of the house. But it was yet some months before the meeting of congress, which was to convene according to law on the first Monday in December, and therefore neither branch of congress was organized and there was no presiding officer of the senate or of the house.

Thus, in the event of President Cleveland's death there would have been nobody to succeed to the office. It would have had to remain vacant until the legal date for the assembling of congress, because nobody but the president has authority to call congress in special session, and there being no president, congress could not have been called together before December. It was a precarious situation and one that showed on its face that some remedy was imperative.

An Embarrassing Situation.

But Mr. Cleveland lived, so that the crisis was safely passed when congress met. But even then another situation was developed that was quite embarrassing. It happened that the senate was Republican and the house Democratic and when congress organized the senate elected John Sherman president pro tempore and the house elected John G. Carlisle speaker. Under the law then in effect, if President Cleveland had died the presidency would have passed to John Sherman, a Republican, who would have had the power to dismiss all the cabinet officers serving under President Cleveland and appoint Republicans in their stead, who would have been confirmed by a Republican senate. This would have amounted to turning the entire administration from one party over to its opponents.

In the event that Mr. Sherman had died or become disqualified, then Speaker Carlisle would have succeeded to the office. With a full realization of the possibilities in this direction a bill was introduced which brought the cabinet in the line of succession, and thus insured the administration remaining in the hands of the party that had been elected to power. This bill was introduced in 1885, and became a law January 19, 1886, thus dissipating any further danger during Cleveland's administration that a vacancy in the presidency might mean a transfer of power to an officer of the opposing party. Not only did the law accomplish this, but it also fixed the order of precedence of the members of the cabinet, which has since been observed at all official gatherings and social functions.

Defects in the Present Law.

While the law, as it will stand after the proposed amendment is added, is a vast improvement over the old law, it yet contains many imperfections that are pointed out by the committee on election of president, vice president and representatives in congress, in their report upon this bill. In this report they say:

"Your committee is not called upon to express any opinion as to the merits of the existing law. It may not, perhaps, be out of place to call the attention of the house briefly to the inadequacy of the present provisions for the presidential succession and the need of early attention to that succession to congress. Who would determine the question of inability on the part of the president, and when such inability ceased? If an election were ordered in case of a vacancy in the office, could it be for the unexpired term, or would it have to be for a term of four years, thus disarranging the four-year period of the government?

"If the president-elect were to die before becoming president would the vice president-elect be president for the term? Again, if a president-elect and vice-president-elect should both die prior to taking their offices, would the cabinet officers appointed by the outgoing president succeed in the order named to the president when the new term began? Suppose the Democratic candidates for president and vice president had been elected at the last election and died before new cabinet officers had been confirmed, would the Republican cabinet officers be in line of succession? There is no easy answer to any of these questions.

Some Pertinent Observations.

"The existing law provides that in case the succession shall devolve upon any of the persons named in the law, if congress be not in session, and would not meet by law within 20 days thereafter, then the person upon whom the duties of the office devolve shall by proclamation convene congress in extraordinary session 'giving 20 days' notice of the time of the meeting.' Could he give more than 20 days' notice? Ought he not to be required to call congress together in 20 days in no uncertain language? Or rather, should not the coming together of congress in such a case be made to happen certainly, and not be dependent upon the proclamation of the officer succeeding to the duties of the presidency?

"These observations are submitted with the object of calling attention to the present unsatisfactory state of this law in a most important particular. There is no reason, however, why the law as it now is should not be extended so as to include in line of succession to the presidential duties the secretary of agriculture and the secretary of commerce and labor in the order of creation of those offices."

Might Defeat Will of the People.

These questions raised by the committee are very important and they show that the law as it stands contains possibilities of some embarrassing predicaments. It would seem that if Parker and Davis had been elected last November, and if both of them had died between the date of their election and March 4, when they were to take the oath of office, the presidency would have passed to John Hay, secretary of state, and if that had been the case, the administration would have remained in the control of the Republicans and the will of the people would have been defeated.

Evidently there is reason for the statesmen to give the matter their earnest attention, and the few pointed questions raised by the house committee will likely draw attention to it in a way that will result in a new law which will be as great an improvement on the present law is on the one that frightened the Cleveland administration on the death of Vice President Hendricks.

Of the 10 steerage passengers of the Red Star liner Vaderland who died on her rough voyage to this port Capt. Ehoff says: "The fatalities were due to exhaustion and seasickness. * * * The dead men came from a very poor part of the country and had no vitality." Will the congress of the United States, will the workingmen who are especially interested in this matter, take notice that this ship was bringing to the country as immigrants persons who, by the statement of its own captain and physician, were not in condition to withstand the voyage—to say nothing of standing their test when they arrived?—New York World.

MR. ROOSEVELT IN THE PULPIT

President Talks of Strength and Responsibilities of Lutheran Church.

IMPORTANT WORK TO BE DONE

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—President Roosevelt delivered an address today at the re-dedication of the Luther Place Memorial church, which was seriously damaged by fire just one year ago tonight, while a sociable given in honor of the 78th birthday anniversary of the pastor, the Rev. Dr. J. G. Butler, was in progress. The church has been entirely restored and was occupied for the first time since the fire today.

The president came in while the services preliminary to the sermon were in progress and was shown to a seat in the pulpit. At their conclusion and after a word of introduction by the pastor the president spoke as follows:

It is a great pleasure to meet with you this morning and say a word of greeting on the occasion of the rededication of this church, coming as it does almost simultaneously with the entry of your pastor into his eighty-ninth year. From the standpoint from which I am obliged so continually to look at matters, there is a peculiar function to be played by the great Lutheran church in the United States of America. This is a church which had its rise to power in, and until it emigrated to this side of the water, had always had its fullest development in the two great races of northern and northern middle Europe—the Germanic and the Scandinavian.

Should Share Our Progress.

The Lutheran church came to the territory which is now the United States very shortly after the first permanent settlements were made within our limits, for when the earliest settlers came to dwell around the mouth of the Delaware they brought the Lutheran worship with them, and so with the earliest German settlers who came to Pennsylvania and afterward to New York, the mountainous region in the western part of Virginia and the states south of it. From that day to this the history of the growth in population of this nation has consisted largely, in some respects mainly, of the arrival of successive waves of newcomers to our shores; and the prime duty of those already in the land is to see that their own progress and development are shared by the newcomers.

It is a serious and dangerous thing for any man to tear loose from the soil, from the region in which he and his forbears have taken root, and to be transplanted into a new land. He should receive all possible aid in that new land; and the aid can be tendered him most effectively by those who can appeal to him on the ground of spiritual kinship. Therefore the Lutheran church can do most in helping upward and onward so many of the newcomers to our shores; and it seems to me that it should be, and I am tempted to say well-nigh the prime duty of this church to see that the immigrant, especially the immigrant of Lutheran faith from the old world, whether he come from Scandinavia or Germany, or whether he belonged to one of the Lutheran countries of Finland, or Hungary, or Austria, may be not suffered to drift off with no friendly hand extended to him out of all the church communion, away from all the influences that tend toward safeguarding and uplifting him, and that he find ready at hand in this country those eager to bring him into fellowship with the existing bodies.

Responsibility on Church Members.

The Lutheran church in this country is of very great power now, numerically, through the intelligence and thrift of its members, but it will grow steadily to even greater power. It is destined to be one of the two or three greatest and most important national churches in the United States; one of the two or three churches most distinctly American, most distinctively among the forces that are to tell for making this great country even greater in the future. Therefore a peculiar load of responsibility rests upon the members of this church. It is an important thing for the people of this nation to remember their rights, but it is an even more important thing to remember their duties.

In the last analysis the work of statesmen and soldiers, the work of the public man, shall go for nothing if it is not based upon the spirit of Christianity working in the millions of homes throughout this country, so that there may be that social, that spiritual, that moral foundation without which no country can ever rise to permanent greatness. For material well being, material prosperity, success in arts, in letters, great industrial triumphs, all of them and all of the structure raised thereon will be as evanescent as a dream if it does not rest on "the righteousness that exalteth a nation."

Forces of Evil Are Strong.

Let me congratulate you and congratulate all of us, that we live in a land and at a time when we accept it as natural that there should be an inter-denominational service of thanksgiving, such a ceremony as is to take place this afternoon in which the pastors of other churches join to congratulate themselves and you upon the rebuilding of this church. One of the constant problems of life is to try to cultivate breadth without shallowness, just as we want to try to cultivate depth without narrowness. It seems to me our good fortune that men have been able to combine fervor in doing the Lord's work with charity toward their brethren who do it with certain differences in the non-essentials.

The forces of evil are strong and mighty in this century and in this country, as they are in other countries, as they have been in all the past centuries, and the people who sincerely wish to do the Lord's work will find ample opportunity for all their labor in fighting the common enemy and in assuming toward their fellows of a different confession an attitude of generous rivalry in the effort to see how the most good can be done to our people as a whole.

I thank you for having given me the chance to speak to you this morning, to say a word of greeting to you and to wish you God speed with all my heart.

The re-dedicatory sermon was preached by the Rev. Dr. George W. Miller of Baltimore and the service of re-dedication was conducted by Dr. Butler.

GREAT REVIVAL IN WALES.

The Rev. Dr. W. G. Partridge Preaches on Famous Religious Awakening.

The Rev. Dr. Warren G. Partridge, pastor of the Fourth Avenue Baptist church, preached yesterday morning on "The Great Revival in Wales." He told of the religious awakening in that land and said in part:

Today one of the most remarkable revivals in modern history is sweeping over Wales. We have been told that education and social betterment would take the place of the revival of a former generation. But Wales is today the scene of a wonderful religious awakening. All denominations have experienced a mighty uplift, trebled, or quadrupled in membership. Up to last reports 32,000 converts have been made.

No great evangelist or preachers have led in the movement. A young student for the ministry, still in the grammar school, Evan Roberts by name, has been the hero of this mighty revival. He is only 26 years of age and was a miner. He is not an orator or a scholar. He began at home among his neighbors and friends and they believed in him and in his message. But the revival is ethical. It does not evaporate in emotion and prayers and exhortations. It has brought about a revival of righteousness. Drunkenness, gambling, immorality are disappearing. Old debts are being paid to the shopkeepers. Old feuds and quarrels are being amicably adjusted. Drinking places in many towns are deserted.

Grand Prize for Apollinaris.

The St. Louis exposition awarded the grand prize to Apollinaris natural mineral water. This well-known water has received the highest award wherever exhibited and lays claim to more awards than any other table water. According to the London Lancet of January 30, 1904, Apollinaris is bottled only at the spring and only with its own natural gas. The spring being at Neuenahr, Germany, Apollinaris was exhibited in the German division and it is noteworthy that Germany made a brilliant record in the great number of awards it carried off.

Former President Cleveland Spoke at Anniversary Meeting in Philadelphia.

"CHRISTIANITY" HIS SUBJECT

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 29.—Former President Grover Cleveland was the principal speaker at today's exercises in connection with the celebration of the 50th anniversary of the Philadelphia Young Men's Christian association. Three general meetings were held this afternoon in different sections of the city. Mr. Cleveland addressed a large gathering at the Pennsylvania railroad department of the Young Men's Christian association; Harry A. Garfield, son of the martyred president, who occupies the chair of American politics at Princeton university, spoke at a large meeting in the northeastern section of the city, and prominent local clergymen were the speakers at the Garrick theater, where the central branch of the Young Men's Christian association observed the day.

W. A. Patton, assistant to President Cassatt of the Pennsylvania railroad, presided at the meeting addressed by Mr. Cleveland. The ex-president was given a cordial welcome when he was introduced. "Christianity" was his theme, and among other things he said:

WEALTHY ALLEGHENIAN SLASHES HIS THROAT

Augustus J. Lamb, Veteran of the Civil War, Commits Suicide With a Razor.

Augustus J. Lamb, one of the largest property owners in Allegheny, was found dying yesterday morning about 8 o'clock, in the bathroom of the family residence, South Diamond street and Union avenue, Allegheny. A razor lay near his right hand and a long gash across the throat told the story. Medical assistance was secured, but Mr. Lamb died a few minutes after being found. No cause can be assigned for the suicide. For some time Mr. Lamb had been suffering from rheumatism.

Augustus Lamb was born in Butler county August 8, 1840. When a young man he went to Colorado and for years was a cowboy. His business acumen gained for him considerable wealth in the stock raising business, and after accumulating a fortune he returned to Allegheny, where he had since lived. He owned property in every part of the city.

Mr. Lamb enlisted in the Eleventh United States Infantry in Pittsburgh April 29, 1862, and one year later was discharged because of disability, at Fort Independence. He re-enlisted in Knapp's battery, May 20, 1863, and from that time until the close of the war engaged in every battle and skirmish in which the battery figured. He was a member of Abe Patterson Post No. 88, Grand Army of the Republic.

Andrew Stahlma, a Slav of Bradford, Pa., jumped from the bridge over the Pittsburgh, Virginia & Charleston railroad tracks at South Tenth street, shortly before 11 o'clock last night, and died a few minutes later. George Schnelly and Mike Ducto, companions of the man, are held awaiting an investigation. They say that Stahlma was suffering with brain fever and they were taking him from the Baltimore & Ohio station to the home of a friend on the South Side. The man fell about 35 feet and struck on the side of his head.

Mrs. Elizabeth B. Stoilb, aged 50, wife of Andrew G. Stoilb of 168 South Main street, died suddenly last night at Sharpsburg. She went there to spend the afternoon with her brother, George Wanner. At 8 o'clock she was on her way to a street car, when she fell on the sidewalk unconscious, and was carried into the Imperial hotel. By the time a doctor arrived she was dead.

Michael Wringer, aged 18, of 75 Orchard street, Schaenville, yesterday was found dead under a crane in the Schoen Pressed Steel Car Works Company with his skull crushed. It is supposed he was knocked down by the crane while at work without his companions seeing the accident.

The coroner was notified last night of the sudden death of Mrs. Hennessy, 87 years old, at her home, 706 Mint alley.

The death of the 5-year-old daughter of a man named Nicholson of 1220 Penn avenue was reported last night to the coroner. It is said the child had been sick but a few days with pneumonia.

Dr. Young to Speak in Philadelphia.

The Rev. Dr. S. Edward Young has received an invitation to conduct the first of a series of permanent noonday meetings in the Garrick theater, Philadelphia, beginning at noon Thursday. These meetings are to be interdenominational. Dr. Young will leave the city to open these meetings on Wednesday evening.

The Death Roll.

Frederick D. Eshelman.

Frederick Dreyer Eshelman, one of the most widely-known residents of Allegheny, died yesterday at the family residence, 1738 Perrysville avenue, after a long illness. For more than a year Mr. Eshelman had been in poor health. He was born in Mannheim, Pa., January 10, 1832, and with his parents, Michael and Susan Dyer Eshelman, came to Pittsburgh 71 years ago. For many years the family lived in the First ward, Pittsburgh. The father was a ship carpenter and the son learned this trade. At this he worked for many years and for a time had a planing mill in Penn avenue. When a young man Mr. Eshelman moved to Allegheny and had a planing mill in North avenue. He retired from business on his 50th birthday and had engaged in no business since. In 1851 he was married to Eliza Ashworth of Allegheny, and for more than a quarter of a century the family had lived in the Perrysville avenue home. Mr. Eshelman always took an active interest in politics and many years ago served in common council. In 1894 he was a candidate for mayor against William Kennedy. He was a charter member of McKinley lodge, F. & A. M., McFarland lodge, I. O. O. F., director since its organization of the Ben Franklin Insurance Company, and director of the Allegheny National bank. Mr. and Mrs. Eshelman and the following children survive: Mrs. R. J. Graham, Mrs. R. C. Tannehill, Mrs. Blanche F. Marquis, Mrs. E. J. Small, Mrs. T. W. McCaw, Paul F. and Ralph A. Eshelman. Wilfred, the youngest son, died last June in California, where he had gone in search of health. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Mrs. Lucine Scott.

After an illness extending over several years Mrs. Lucine Scott, widow of John A. Scott, died unexpectedly at the residence of her son-in-law, George Buchanan, 3815 Perrysville avenue, Allegheny, yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Scott may be termed one of the pioneers of Allegheny. She was born in Mechanicsburg, near Harrisburg, on December 22, 1810, her maiden name being Stubbs. When she was 11 years of age the family came to Pittsburgh in a Conestoga wagon, locating in Allegheny. In 1842 she was married. John A. Scott, a member of one of the old families of Pittsburgh. Mr. Scott being a county commissioner in 1871-1873. They lived for years on Marshall avenue, overlooking Pleasant valley. At the age of 15 the deceased joined what is now the North Avenue M. E. church, and until her death was an active member of the congregation, her connection with the church extending over a period of 70 years. Mrs. Scott is survived by a sister, Mrs. Sarah Stoddard, of South Atlantic avenue; two sons, William H. and John H., the latter of Harrisburg, and two daughters, Mrs. Buchanan and Mrs. Frank Kinsinger of Summerlea street. The funeral services will be held at the Buchanan residence tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock and will be conducted by the Rev. T. L. Eaton of the North Avenue M. E. church.

Mrs. Catherine McClintock Whitesell.

Mrs. Catherine McClintock Whitesell is dead at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. William P. Price, 908 Beech avenue, Allegheny, after a lingering illness. Mrs. Whitesell was born in Allegheny county August 10, 1825, and had been a resident of this vicinity all her life. In 1847 she was married to Dr. George L. Whitesell, a prominent Allegheny county physician, who was killed in the Civil war, through part of which he served as an army surgeon. Mrs. Whitesell was one of the oldest members of the Fourth United Presbyterian church. Two daughters survive: Mrs. S. H. Johnston and Mrs. William P. Price. Funeral services will be held at the Price residence this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Mrs. Sarah Iveson Heist.

Mrs. Sarah Iveson Heist, aged 76, died yesterday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Louise Buckley, 109 Harrison avenue, Avalon. She was the widow of Louis Heist, a Civil war veteran. Mrs. Heist was born in England, coming to America with her parents at the age of 12. She had since lived in Allegheny county. After the death of her husband she became a trained nurse, and lived for years in Sewickley. For the last seven years she had lived with her two daughters, Mrs. Buckley and Mrs. Arneath Brewser of Allegheny. She belonged to the Sewickley Baptist church. The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Buckley.

Thomas Hackett.

Thomas Hackett, aged 71, died yesterday at his home, 813 South Negley avenue, after an illness of several years. He was born in Ireland and located in Pittsburgh in boyhood. About 50 years ago he engaged in the oil business with a brother, and for many years conducted a refinery in Lawrenceville. Later he became interested in coal and coke production, but had retired from active business several years ago. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mary Crate Hackett, and one daughter, Miss Mary, at home.

Miss Sarah C. Perry.

Miss Sarah C. Perry, formerly of Pittsburgh, died at her home in St. Paul, Minn., on Saturday. She was the daughter of the late Hugh Perry of this city. While here she was a member of the First Presbyterian church and was closely identified with church work. She is survived by one brother and one sister, Mrs. Sawyer of Pittsburgh and Miss Margaret J. Perry of St. Paul. The interment will take place in Allegheny cemetery.

Mrs. F. J. Blaine.

Mrs. Catherine Blaine, aged 50, wife of F. J. Blaine, died at her home near the Butler road, Glenshaw, last evening, after a long illness. Mrs. Blaine was born near Salem, O., and spent most of her life there, going to Glenshaw a few months ago. She was a member of the Roman Catholic church, and is survived by her husband and seven children: Frances, Mary, Lena, Agnes, Paul and Charles Blaine of Glenshaw, and Mrs. Charles Moore of Sharpsburg.

Mrs. Hugh Hall.

Mrs. Mary Jane Hall, wife of Hugh Hall, is dead at the family residence in Greenfield avenue as the result of a short illness due to pneumonia. She was a member of the Greenfield Presbyterian church, and is survived by her husband, six children, one brother and a sister.

Lacey S. Hibbs.

Lacey S. Hibbs, aged 18, died yesterday at his home in Crafton avenue, Crafton. He was born in Wilkinsburg, and was a son of the late Lacey S. Hibbs, Sr. He is survived by his mother, two sisters and one brother.

W. U. P. FOOTBALL PLAYERS WANT THOMPSON TO COACH

THOMPSON WILL COACH W. U. P.

Players Make Him Their Choice as Instructor for Next Year's Football Team.

JUD SCHMIDT IS THE CAPTAIN

REVENUES INFLATED ONE MILL

There is trouble brewing in the W. U. P. football camp. Arthur Mosse, coach of last year's eleven, is persona non grata, it is learned, to the players, who want another coach.

Saturday morning there was a gathering of the players. It was not learned whether it was an informal affair or an appointed one, but at the meeting, which was held in the office of Fred Miller, president of the Alumni association, Joe Thompson, captain of last year's team, was the unanimous choice for coach, and Jud. Schmidt, the halfback, was chosen captain, succeeding Thompson, who was elected captain after the State College game last fall.

Thompson was not at the meeting and he declines to say whether he sanctioned its proceedings or not. His friends, however, say he would accept the position of coach if tendered him.

Thompson is popular with the players and he is the unanimous choice for coach, judging from the gossip. Mosse, it is said by persons well acquainted with W. U. P. athletics, does not get along with the players without friction. There was discord of some consequence last fall, but it never became public.

Those who favor Thompson for coach point out it would be to W. U. P.'s advantage to have him in charge, as he would bring about peace with W. and J. more readily than would Mosse, who is not liked by the Washington athletes.

Mosse, it has been learned, has written for a game with W. and J. for next fall, but his request has not been granted so far. There is a possibility of a game, but there are certain conditions that Mosse would have to grant before the game is arranged.

PITTSBURGH COLLEGE NINE HAS BRIGHT PROSPECTS

Athletic Association Has Been Formed by the Students—Games Being Arranged.

It is almost a certainty that Pittsburgh college will have another winning team this spring. Of last year's team Murray, Kummer, Kilgallen, Harrell, Duffy, Hays, Keating and Dougherty have returned to college and will likely play on the team. Earl Smith of Waynesburg, a member of the team of 1903, will also be found in the line-up. James Brennan, formerly with Holy Cross and Villa Nova, will doubtless strike the team, as will E. L. Engle, one of Pittsburgh Lyceum's star twirlers of last season.

Games have been scheduled with Allegheny college, West Virginia university, Wesleyan University of West Virginia, California Normal school and W. U. P. Medical college. Games are pending with Bethany college, St. Vincent's college, Waynesburg college, W. and J. college, Turtle Creek Valley Athletic club, Works, Homestead, East End Lyceum, Pittsburgh Lyceum and several others. The schedule will include about 25 games when completed.

The students are showing their appreciation of the efforts which the members of the team have made to raise the college standard to the highest possible mark. An athletic association has been formed in which the name of every student has been enrolled. The affairs of the association are in charge of the following committee:

Ralph Davis, Frank Neilan, Frank Stack, Joseph Keating, Charles Duffy, John McGeehin, J. P. Cleary, Raymond Dowling and Charles Engle. Every class in the institution is represented in the above committee.

The association will hold a progressive euchre in the college recreation hall tomorrow evening.

BUSINESS MEN'S SHOW.

Fine Program Is Arranged for Tonight. Strong Fighters Entered.

The Business Men's club will hold its regular weekly show tonight at 806 and 808 Fifth avenue. The show will start with Patsy Brannigan and Kid Mack. Bosco will meet Tommy Trimble of the South Side. A bout that alone should pack the hall will be between Ned Chernoff, the "Fighting Hebrew," and Ed Green, the colored cyclone, who has won all his bouts up to date. Another contest that will please will be that between Jeddy McFadden, the lad who belongs to the Greenfield club, and Tom Tracey.

The wind up will bring together Paul Moore and either Joe Keally or Harry McGraw.

NEW POSITION TENDERED EX-PRESIDENT GRILLO

TOLEDO, O., Jan. 29.—(Special.)—Ex-President J. Ed Grillo, who was recently deposed from the head of the American association, has been offered the position of president of the Toledo club, and is now considering it. A peculiar feature of the offer is that it comes from George E. Lennon, until this week the president of the St. Paul club, and who was conspicuous in the defeat of Grillo, at Chicago, this week. Lennon was a Grillo man, but force of circumstances caused him to vote against the former president. He now shows his realization of the worth of Grillo by making this offer.

Manchester and Freedom Tonight.

The Manchester and Freedom basketball teams are scheduled to play tonight at Raleigh hall, lower Allegheny. This will be the third meeting of the season for these two teams, and, as each has taken one of the two games already played, tonight's contest should be an exciting one. The Manchester Juniors and the Friendship five will play the preliminary. Lineup:

Manchester.		Freedom.
Tannehill	Yeager	Forward	Thomason
Roe	Patterson	Forward	George, West
McLafferty		Center	Edgar, Mitchell
Graham		Guard	East, Goettman
Durry		Guard	Bane

South Side at Indiana.

INDIANA, PA., Jan. 29.—(Special.)—All Indiana county is interested in the South Side Old Boys' basketball game here tomorrow night. Delegations are coming from Blairsville, Bolivar, Saltsburg, Apollo, Clarksburg and Marion. The Old Boys have lost one game to South Side, but expect to even matters tomorrow.

The Prudential and Its Policy-Holders.

The annual statement of the Prudential, which is published on another page, shows that the company has enjoyed another year of exceptional prosperity. Over $312,000,000 of new insurance was issued and paid for during 1904, this amount being the largest in the history of the company, and $1,000,000,000 of insurance is now in force upon its books. The company also paid to its policy holders during 1904 over $13,000,000, which makes the total payments to policy holders up to date over $92,000,000.

The Prudential has always had the reputation of exceptionally liberal treatment of its policy holders. Every year the company pays hundreds of thousands of dollars in dividends and as additions to policies, which were not stipulated in the contracts themselves.

When changes are made in the policy contracts which make for increased liberality to the insured, the Prudential has always made these concessions retroactive wherever practicable, so that holders of old policies may secure these benefits. Over $5,000,000 have been voluntarily distributed in this way to holders of old policies.

A particularly interesting statement is published this year. It shows that the company has accumulated assets amounting to over $88,000,000 of which $13,000,000 is surplus over all liabilities. The liabilities are $75,900,000.

The character of the investments is plainly shown to be of the highest possible quality, and the margin of security on loans, on bonds and mortgages and on collaterals, as plainly shown and should inspire every policy holder of the company with confidence in its conservative management.

The company will furnish any information concerning its policies to those who write to the Home Office, Newark, N. J.

YOUNG BASEBALL PLAYERS WHO HAVE PROSPECTS AT ADVANCING IN GAME

PITCHER RUSSELL. He lives at Youngwood, Pa., and did well for the Coketville team last year.

EARL RUSSELL. He pitched on the Hickory A. C. of the East End last year, which won the 16-year-old championship. He is a former Mercersburg academy student.

FRED BADEL. The Carnegie outfielder who has been signed by the Johnstown Tri-State team. He was with Warren last year.

PIPER GOES TO THE ILION CLUB

Leaves Independent Ranks to Catch in the New York State League This Season.

TALES ABOUT THE PLAYERS

Frank Piper has decided to catch for the Ilion New York State league club this season. He was signed by that club last winter, but when spring rolled around he went to Wilmington in the Tri-State, and finished at Warren, O.

The Ilion club has held open a position behind the bat for him, and in a letter tells that he should report there, as he will have a better chance of getting into faster company.

Red Youngson's Experience.

"Ever break a baseball etiquette rule in a foreign town and have the populace after you?" inquires "Red" Youngson, a local third baseman. "I did, and should not want to go through the same experience again. Two years ago the East Liverpool team got Jake Chambers, Lee Stevenson and myself for a series with the Wellsville, W. Va., team. We played the first game there and when the ninth inning came around we were one run to the good.

"The home team had a man on second, Murphy, with two out. Mnag, last year with Akron, drove a single into left and as Murphy was rounding third, I gently gave him the foot, sending him to the ground on his head. Then I did not have sense enough to get out of his way. He came back and caught me by the throat, at the same time giving me a wallop on the jaw. Then some one kicked me. List, the Rochester umpire, who was working the game, rushed to my assistance. Quiet was restored and the next man put up a pop fly, which I took in, retiring the side and saving the game.

"I left town on the top of a trolley car; the Wellsville fans wanted to fly me alive. Chambers, in that game, was to the bat four times and on each occasion he hit the right field fence for two baggers."

Asleep at the Switch.

"There are few ball players who do not trip up occasionally, or at least once in their career, in 'noodle' work," says "Pat" Briney, a local infielder. "I committed such an offense once and it cost my team the game. I was playing the infield at Monessen a few years ago and we had a hot series on with Suter. In one of the games at Monessen Suter had the score 1 to 6 in the ninth inning.

"We got a man on second and another on third and I hit a single into right field. I started down the line, but took my time, watching the runners score. The right fielder saw me jogging along and threw to first, retiring the side. The runs did not count and we lost the game. The first person I saw leaving our bench was Charlie Sis, coming in my direction with a bat in his hand. I escaped alive, but it taught me to always keep your eyes open in a game."

"Paddy" Connors, Lawrenceville's fast infielder, has an offer from Economy, but has not signed.

Akron favors an independent players association. The purpose of the association is to stop players from jumping their contract when a rival magnate offers them an increase of $5 or maybe $10. The president is supposed to furnish averages and other matters of interest. When the association does all those things it will have succeeded in its purpose and will be a good thing for independent ball.

Lebanon has signed Eddie Pleiss to play left field and captain the club next season. The manager also reports having signed First Baseman German of last year's Lindner club.

SIGN MANY BALL PLAYERS.

Dayton and Wheeling of Central League in Race for Material.

SOUTH BEND, IND., Jan. 28.—(Special.)—Dayton is running a race with Wheeling to see which city has the best right to sign the greatest number of players for next year. Within the last week Manager Knoll of the "vets" has signed not less than a dozen players.

Among the men Knoll has signed within the last few days is "Pat" Wise of Lima, O. Guese, another pitcher with a good reputation, comes from the same territory. Wilte, an outfielder from Indianapolis, is another youngster who has signed a Dayton contract.

While Knoll is signing players he is having difficulty in bringing the old twirlers to time, and now Tracey Johns, the star southpaw twirler, has fallen into line with Ed Smith and Tommy Hawkins, who refuses to sign unless given a raise of $25 a month.

The announcement that Melchoir, the heavy hitting fielder who played with Grand Rapids and Evansville last season, will not be used by the Wolverines this year is not received with good faith by South Bend fans. In case Grand Rapids does turn the Chicago man loose he will be snapped up by Grant of South Bend or Knoll of Dayton.

At last, after many rumors of proposed trades, Evansville has succeeded in getting rid of Minor. Manager Jimmy Ryan, not liking the big pitcher, has traded him to Colorado Springs for Charles Baerwald, a catcher.

Clarion's First Defeat.

CLARION, PA., Jan. 28.—(Special.)—The Clarion Normal team suffered its first defeat last night at the hands of the Franklin team, 37 to 34. Lineup:

Franklin—37.		Normal—34.
Wagner	Forward	Vogel
McCoy	Forward	Miller
Capnell	Center	Hassenfritz
Hartman	Guard	J. Shirley
Field	Guard	F. Shirley

Field goals—Vogel 4, Miller 2, Hassenfritz 5, F. Shirley, McCoy 5, Wagner, Capnell 1, Hartman 5. Foul goals—Vogel 3, Hassenfritz, Capnell. Referee—Bowman. Umpire—Jabson.

AMONG THE PASSERS.

McLafferty played a great game for Manchester at Butler last Saturday night.

Manchester and East Liverpool will come together next Monday night in Raleigh hall.

The Duquesne Juniors of the South Side would like to hear from all 11 and 12-year-old teams having halls. Address Wilson Ross, 1900 Carson street.

The South Side third team would like to hear from the L. M. C. A. third team of Sewickley. Write G. B. Wessa, 1717 Sarah street, South Side, city.

The Casino Technical school five wants games with good teams, Fridays away from home and Saturdays at home. Address P. B. Hines, Box 911, Pittsburgh.

Two games will be played tonight at Gerdon hall, 822 Fifth avenue. Columbia Council will lineup against Commercial High School, and Sanvill A. C. and Trinity A. C. will play the preliminary game.

The games scheduled to be played this week in the Manchester and Raleigh leagues are: Wednesday evening, Railroad A. C. versus Eagle A. C., Manchester Midgets versus Railroad Midgets; Saturday evening, Manhattan A. C. versus Rambler A. C., Tom Thumbs versus Fayette Midgets.

WILKINSBURG CROWDING EAST LIBERTY SEVEN

East Liberty academy and Wilkinsburg High school will be the opponents Saturday afternoon in the next Interscholastic Hockey league game. Shadyside's defeat by Pittsburgh High school Saturday has increased the interest in the championship race, which is growing warmer with each game.

East Liberty will have to beat Wilkinsburg this Saturday in order to hold its third-place position. Capt. Reisfar, by shooting two goals Saturday, is now tied with Ray Robinson, also of High school, for second place among the goal shooters. The records follow:

	1st Half	2nd. Half	Extra Period
Van Gorder, Pittsburgh	2	0	0
R. Robinson, Pittsburgh	3	3	0
Reisfar, Pittsburgh	2	4	0
R. Mueller, Shadyside	2	1	0
Babst, Shadyside	0	3	0
Patterson, Shadyside	2	3	0
Harmer, Pittsburgh	1	1	0
E. Robinson, Wilkinsburg	0	2	0
Burton, Wilkinsburg	0	2	0
Flegerr, Wilkinsburg	1	0	0
Carter, East Liberty	1	0	0
Robertson, East Liberty	1	0	0
Herron, Shadyside	0	1	0
Bright, Pittsburgh	1	0	0
Askin, East Liberty	0	0	1
K. Mueller, East Liberty	0	1	0
Worcester, Allegheny	0	1	0

Yale had an easy time disposing of Brown Saturday night in New York in a championship intercollegiate game. This victory puts Yale on even terms with Harvard. The standing follows:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Harvard	2	0	1000
Yale	2	0	1000
Princeton	1	2	.333
Columbia	1	2	.333
Brown	0	2	.000

Scheck and Gardner Matched.

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—(Special.)—Billy Hogan, manager of Mike Schreck, announced yesterday that he had matched the Cincinnati middleweight with George Gardner for a 20-round bout to take place before the Utah Athletic club at Salt Lake City, February 10. The winner will meet Marvin Hart February 24, probably before the same club.

Golf Notes.

H. R. Rea, the Allegheny Country club golfer, is taking a prominent part in the Palm Beach tournaments. For the Lake Worth cup he defeated 25 Saturday E. H. Williams by 1 up, and in the second round he beat A. P. Clapp 8 and 5. Final is unplayed. For the Lakewood cup he beat Arthur Lord 1 up, 19 holes, in the semi-finals. He met defeat in the finals, however, for this cup, John Moller, Jr., leading him 1 up.

Bruce D. Smith has been elected captain of the Yale golf team. He was a semi-finalist in the 1903 amateur championship, being put out there by E. M. Byers of the Allegheny Country club.

H. Chandler Egan, American amateur golf champion, will sail from Southampton May 17, after his European trip. The British amateur event takes place at Prestwick May 22-27.

ARMY'S CHAMPION PLAYER RETURNS TO SOUTH SIDE

Thomas Parker, former champion baseball player of the United States army, has returned to his home in the Twenty-Seventh ward, Pittsburgh, after serving two enlistments with the regulars. Not all his time, however, was spent on the amateur diamond, and he has seen service in a number of engagements in the Philippines. Thomas was recruited in the ranks of Company L, Eighteenth infantry, and saw service in several thrilling campaigns against the Filipino rebels. He re-enlisted in the field and served in Company D of the Seventeenth infantry until two weeks ago, when he was discharged.

WRIGHT IS FAVORITE IN BILLIARD TOURNAMENT

Gardner Is the Second Choice in Play Which Begins Today at Chicago.

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—The first billiard tournament for the amateur championship of America ever played west of the Alleghenies will begin here tomorrow night at the Chicago Athletic association clubhouse in Michigan avenue. The games will take place in the gymnasium of the clubhouse and accommodations for 1,000 spectators have been provided.

The tournament is the fifth held for the Brooklyn Eagle's gold cup, a trophy emblematic of the national championship. All the other tourneys have been held in New York city, and it was only after long and earnest pleadings that the present tournament was awarded to Chicago.

In addition to the gold cup, the Chicago Athletic association will give eight prizes to be distributed among the ten competitors. The player who finishes in first place will receive a diamond fob valued at $400. The second, third, fourth and fifth players will also receive handsome diamond prizes, as well as the players who make the highest run, highest single average and the highest grand average.

Play in the tournament will begin tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. W. F. Threshie of Boston, and E. A. Wright of San Francisco will be the contestants in the initial game. Commencing Tuesday, three games a day, one in the morning, one in the afternoon, and another at night, will be played until the tournament is ended.

The style of play that will govern the tournament will be 14 inch, balk line, two shots in balk. The games will consist of 300 points each. The ten players who have entered for the tournament are as follows:

E. A. Wright, San Francisco; W. N. Sigourney, San Francisco; W. F. Threshie, Boston; Ed W. Gardner, Passaic, N. J.; W. Ferdinand Poggenburg, New York; Charles Norris, New York; Byron E. Stark, New York; C. F. Conklin, Chicago; Ed Rein, Chicago, and Charles A. Schmidt, Racine, Wis.

A leading room keeper of Chicago has opened a book on the tournament with Wright the favorite for first place at odds of 2 to 1. Gardner is next in favor at odds of 4 to 1. Next comes Sigourney at 6 to 1, Threshie, Norris, Conklin and Poggenburg. The present champion, are held at 9 to 1. The others are quoted at from 15 to 1 to 25 to 1.

The above interesting schedule of games was made known today by Ban Johnson, president of the American Baseball league, after a lengthy conference with Harry C. Pulliam, president of the National league.

NILSSON WINS TWICE.

Defeats Peter Sinnirud in One and Three Mile Races at Verona.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—(Special.)—Johnny Nilsson, champion professional skater of the world, and Peter Sinnirud met in a one and three-mile race at Verona lake yesterday, and Nilsson won both events.

On the sixth lap of the mile Nilsson jumped into the lead and held it for three laps. Then Sinnirud went to the front and stayed there until the pistol was fired for the last lap, when Nilsson spurted, passed Sinnirud, and crossed the tape three feet in front of him. The time was 2:53. Considering the strong wind that fronted the skaters on the back stretch, the race was a good one.

In the three-mile race Nilsson again jumped away in front, but swung wide at the first turn, and let Sinnirud set the pace. After five laps Nilsson went to the front and was first at the halfe, which was made in 3 minutes 10 seconds. Sinnirud then went to the front and finished the two miles first in 6 minutes 18 seconds. The last lap was a terrific sprint, in which Nilsson showed a great burst of speed up to the last 50 yards, when he eased up and crossed the tape 12 feet ahead in 9 minutes 26 seconds.

HYLAND IS STRONG.

In Trim for Battle Tomorrow With Frank Neil.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 29.—(Special.)—It has been said in several quarters that "Fighting Dick" Hyland lacks the cleverness to cope with Frankie Neil, no matter how rugged nor how hard a puncher he might be. A neat spot in Hyland's record is a knockout administered to Dick Cullen, who has been trimming the clever though light hitting Australians on their native heath.

Harry Corbett accompanied Battling Nelson to the ocean beach yesterday morning to see how Hyland looked. Nelson and Hyland went four rounds at high tension. To satisfy the visitors further, Hyland hopped on the scales and tipped the beam at 122 pounds.

Neil has worked hard at San Rafael. The lanham and Young Corbett have been a very busy pair and both are as fit as a couple of thoroughbreds ready for the races.

Sullivan Beats Gelmer.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 29.—Several prize fights, each scheduled for six rounds, were held at the Columbia Athletic club today. Marty Sullivan of Brooklyn knocked out "Kid" Gelmer of St. Louis in the first round. Jack Dunleavy of Boston and Jule Kline of St. Louis fought six rounds to a draw.

AMATEUR BASEBALL GOSSIP

The Addies Juniors organized yesterday by electing William Rooney, manager; Fred Hurst, captain, and Ed. Waters, treasurer. They have the same players as last year, excepting Brantleen. All S. and 9-year-old teams address William Rooney, 1421 Foster avenue, Allegheny.

ELEVEN STARTERS, 100-MILE RACE

Autoists to Compete Today on Ormond-Daytona Beach for the Vanderbilt Plate.

OTHER EVENTS ON THE CARD

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

ORMOND, FLA., Jan. 29.—Indications tonight are that there will be eleven starters tomorrow morning in the 100-mile automobile races for the Vanderbilt plate. The probable competitors are A. E. MacDonald, 90 Napier; E. R. Thomas, 90 Mercedes; R. M. Stanley, 90 Mercedes; M. G. Bergin, in W. Gould Brokaw's 90 Renault; Paul Sartori in A. G. Vanderbilt's 90 Fiat; James D. Breez, 40 Mercedes; William Wallace, 90 Fiat; Charles Duplus, 80 Pope; Walter Christie, 80 Christie; H. Fletcher, 80 Pietrich, and Webb Jay, White steamer.

The race will be over a course from the mile to 16-mile post on the Ormond-Daytona beach. The turning points will not be neutralized, no time being deducted after the start. Cars will be started one minute apart, the heavy weights first being sent away at 8:30 o'clock.

As in the Vanderbilt cup race in Long Island, the winner will be figured on time occupied for the trip. All vehicles are to be kept off the course during the contest, and deputies are empowered to cut tires on any machine driven along the beach before the race is ended. MacDonald, in the Napier, is the favorite, with E. R. Thomas a strong second. An attempt will be made to run off two other events tomorrow, the 2-mound handicap at five miles, and the 2-mile trophy race at the same distance. The beach today was in good condition.

CAPE MAY TEAM'S OUTLOOK.

Several Old Penn Players on Rutherford's Team.

CAPE MAY, N. J., Jan. 29.—(Special.)—Manager Henry S. Rutherford of the Cape May baseball club is hard at work securing players for the coming season. He has four pitchers, Devlin, the ex-University of Pennsylvania player, and Fletcher W. Sides of the University team, who will again captain the Cape May team. The catcher will be Charles Doak, who has played in the position for the last two years. Clinton Rutherford of Cape May will again play at first base, while the second baseman will be Clay of Harvard. Nichols of Cape May will play at short. Capt. Sides will play at third base when not pitching. The outfield will be made up of Harold Cassedy, formerly of Bellefonte academy, and Doerner. Doerner has pitched occasionally for the Cape May team and will go into the pitcher's box upon some occasions. Carles of the University of Pennsylvania will also be in the outfield for the team.

Grilk Can't Run for Harvard.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Jan. 29.—(Special.)—The trials to pick the Harvard relay team to run against Yale and the University of Pennsylvania at the Boston Athletic association indoor track meet, in Mechanics hall, on February 11, which were to have been held last week, have been postponed until next Friday. Louis Grilk, one of Harvard's best sprinters, who ran on the team that beat Pennsylvania a year ago in record breaking time, has injured his leg that was strained in the dual meet with Yale last spring, and will be out of the game.

LOST HIS LIFE FOR TOOL CHEST

Joseph Patterson Was Burned to Death When He Returned to a Blazing Building.

FIRE ALARMS WERE NUMEROUS

One life was lost and thousands of dollars' worth of property destroyed in the fires of yesterday. Joseph Patterson, aged about 48, was burned to death at 1:20 a. m., in a small one-story frame building in which he lived, at 308 Scott street, Allegheny.

Patterson, it is alleged, had a lot of companions in the place Saturday night who were drinking and having an uproarious time, and it is supposed they upset a lighted kerosene lamp, which exploded and set fire to the building. The neighbors say all got out of the house safely, and that Patterson, returning to get out his tool chest, some books and clothing, was overcome by the heat and smoke and perished. His body was found lying alongside the tool chest, which had been dragged toward the front door.

The fire made a big blaze and an alarm was sent in. When the firemen arrived the building was almost burned down and it was impossible to save Patterson. His body was horribly burned.

The building belonged to James Jones and the loss is about $200, covered with insurance.

Patterson was an umbrella mender and basket maker, but was lately employed as a collector for the Pittsburgh Transfer Company.

Thomas Cook's shoe store, 40 Shiloh street, Mt. Washington, was almost totally destroyed by fire early yesterday morning. The loss on the stock, fixtures and building is probably about $3,800. The building, a one-story frame structure, is owned by Mrs. Eli Whiteley. The cause of the fire is not known, though it is attributed to a gas explosion. When the firemen of engine company No. 17 reached the scene the storeroom was a furnace, but the flames were got under control in 15 or 20 minutes, although the men did not quit work until 4 o'clock, two hours after the fire was discovered. While the building remains standing it is badly burned throughout. The stock is almost a total loss.

The German Evangelical Salem church, at Fifty-second street and Carnegie avenue, was damaged $100 by fire early yesterday morning. An overheated stove started the fire.

Fire did $100 damage to the residence of Frederick Watts, Arlington avenue and Manton alley, Allentown, yesterday forenoon. The blaze was caused by a defective flue. The firemen found it necessary to chop a large hole in the roof.

Fire at the home of Martin Hauch, 2102 Spring alley, did $100 damage yesterday morning.

A fire in a tool shed at the Shoenberger steel plant, Fifteenth and Pike streets, caused a loss of $50.

A defective flue caused a small blaze but little damage at the residence of Albert McGuire, 11 Heaman street.

GREAT CARNEGIE ORGAN WILL BE LONG TIME SILENT

Edwin H. Lemare Greeted by Big Crowd at Closing Recital—Park Visitors Scarce.

The last of Edwin H. Lemare's organ recitals at the Pittsburgh Carnegie music hall was given yesterday afternoon, and the big organ will not be heard again [illegible] until after the improvements to the institute building are completed. It was one of the largest audiences of the year that gathered at the hall, the majority being residents of the city who came to bid the organist godspeed on his way back to England. At the close of the program he returned to the platform and addressed his audience.

Lemare was visibly affected as he stood at the foot of the stairway to his dressing room and met those who had been constant attendants at his recitals and lectures. After a brief farewell, he took his roll of music and hastened to his home in order to leave on an early train for New York. On Wednesday he will sail for London.

There were few people on promenade yesterday, and with the exception of the crowds at the music hall, Schenley park was practically deserted. In Highland park there were few visitors.

Beat Off 50 Men and Robbed Passenger

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—Operating alone, a robber held 50 men at bay on a Chicago avenue street car today while he robbed P. H. Dickin, a farmer from Dickinson, N. D. The robber forced his victim to the car railing, and after stealing his valuables, fought his way off the car, beating men and women who obstructed him, and escaped after an exciting chase.

Irish to Oppose Arbitration Treaty.

ZANESVILLE, O., Jan. 29.—The Irish-American Nationalist society was organized here tonight. The movement, which is to be a national one, has for its object the defeat of the pending arbitration treaty between the United States and Great Britain. M. J. Barry of Columbus was elected president of the society, and Harry McKenna of Dayton secretary.

NO SUBSTITUTE

has yet been found for cod liver oil. There are so-called extracts, wines and cordials of cod liver oil that are said to contain the active principles but not the oil itself. This is absurd on its face. You might as well extract the active principles of wheat and make bread with them. The best form of cod liver oil, that can be digested and assimilated most easily, is Scott's Emulsion.

PAPER THAT APPEALED TO ALL OF THE READERS

The Sunday Gazette Menu Made Up of Literary Tid-Bits Especially Designed for the Masses.

There was something about yesterday's Gazette which appealed directly to all classes of humanity. If it is true that "variety is the spice of life," then the readers of The Sunday Gazette certainly had their quota of spice served up in one literary feast. There was heavy matter for the thinkers, light and breezy reading for those whose tastes run in that direction, household hints for the women and fun for the little fellows. Buster Brown, Tige and Jimmy Tucker are back in America, and the reception accorded James by the district messenger boys in New York must have warmed the cockles of his young English heart. A bunch of celebrities, such as Mr. Coon, the bear, wolf and a few other old friends met in reunion out near Punxsutawney to welcome Brer Groundhog when he comes out to see his shadow. Unnecessary to say, this bunch of side-splitters are making things hum in the vicinity of Punxsy. There is a collation of news in The Sunday Gazette calculated to keep one's mind absorbed indefinitely, and an idea of what it is all about can be gained by a perusal of the appended tid-bits:

The Russian strike is spreading in the Baltic provinces of Russia and in Poland, and alarm is felt over developments. In St. Petersburg 23 establishments have been set on fire. The Russian loss in recent fighting has been 1,000 men and 45 officers, and the battle is still going on. Secretary Hay's suggestion to call an international conference to discuss the integrity of China meets with no sympathy with the Japanese minister to England.

A tongueless man tells how he learned the he could talk. The Goebring newspaper measure is practically without opposition in the legislature. Claims against the Steuben company aggregate $1,500,000, and there is only $1,200 to meet them. "Bluebeard" is said to have had a man and a woman for accomplices. The Steel Corporation will thoroughly exploit its ore and coal properties. Alonzo J. Whiteman was recaptured at the home of his mother. Roger O'Mara is in New York trying to aid deposed Inspector McLaughlin. Distinguished guests, including President Roosevelt and Secretary Knox, were "roasted" at the annual dinner of the Gridiron club in Washington. Secretary Taft says that self-government for the Philippines will not be realized in this generation. The reduction in the estimates, as contained in the navy appropriation bill, will not affect the general policy of the government in the upbuilding of the navy.

The Builders' Exchange league claims to have prevented a general reduction in wages. Bishop Canevin, as president of the Catholic Total Abstinence union, issued his annual letter. Greater Pittsburgh committee is to be enlarged to represent all interests affected. Allegheny Street Commissioner Charles Striepeke was held for court in connection with the graft crusade. Max Weinowitz, who left the workhouse to see his wife die, has returned to prison. Traffic troubles between the Wabash and the Pennsylvania railroads were aired in court. City Solicitor Rodgers says that $205,000 for High school must be put into the appropriations. Novel conditions prevail at Mont Alto, in one of Pennsylvania's forestry reservations, where consumptives find health in caring for themselves. Engineers' society holds notable banquet in celebration of its 25th anniversary.

The New York stock market was buoyant. Northern Securities, Northwestern and Union Pacific advanced to the highest prices for years. The New York weekly bank statement showed an increase of $16,831,700, and an increase in cash reserves of nearly $10,660,000. Wheat closed firm.

Dumont Scott runs fourth in half-mile race at Washington, D. C. Pittsburgh High school beat Shadyside at hockey. Catcher Harry Smith has sent word that his arm is again in good shape. The Pittsburgh hockey team has been strengthened by the addition of Baird and Kent.

BISHOP DEDICATES CHURCH.

New Buildings of St. Henry's Parish Opened With Impressive Ceremonies.

The Right Rev. Bishop Regis Canevin officiated yesterday morning at the dedication of the church and parochial school of St. Mary's parish on Arlington avenue. The bishop was escorted to the church by the uniformed Knights of St. George and was assisted in the ceremonies by several local priests.

A feature of the service was the confirmation of nearly 100 children by the bishop. The new buildings have been erected at a cost of $31,000 and are of brick.

COLD WEATHER INTERFERED WITH DRILLERS IN OIL FIELDS

The cold weather interfered somewhat with development work in the lower southwest fields during the past week. Considerable work that had reached the sand was not completed for that reason and unless milder weather prevails it will be delayed for some time. The fact that it has been delayed is of no great importance to any but the individuals interested, for it is of a kind that does not attract the attention of the majority of operators.

West of Mannington, in the 30-foot development, is the only spot in the entire lower southwest that interests any number of operators. The late completions in this district have not been such as to inspire confidence in expanding the producing area of the pool. But one well was drilled into the sand and the showing for anything better than a light pumper is not promising. It is the South Penn Company's No. 3 on the J. C. Baker farm, located northeast of the best producers. By the close of the week it had been drilled deep enough into the sand to get the pay and had filled up but a few hundred feet with fluid. Nos. 1 and 2 on this farm have both been drilled through the 30-foot and the lower sands and will be filled and tested in the 30-foot, nothing having been developed in the lower formations.

Operators have been very liberal in the use of the high explosive fluid in this district. All of the old wells have been shot one or more times and with some the response is rather feeble. Trees S. Benedum had the best results of the week's shooting, when they shot their Nos. 1 and 2 on the J. L. Holden farm and increased their production to 800 barrels the ensuing 24 hours. However, the increase was only temporary, and by the close of the week they were down again to one-half that amount. The entire daily production of the pool is now less than the amount produced by one of a few of the best wells when first drilled into the sand. The entire district is not producing much in excess of 1,000 barrels a day. It will be the unexpected that happens if the wells now drilling, and when completed, are made to supplant for more than a short time the decline in the old wells.

In all other deep sand districts light producers were the rule, accompanied by the usual number of dry holes. In the Smithfield district, in Wetzel county, a number of wells are drilling in the sand and the indications are that there will be a number fall to the duster list. The Maxon sand development, on Churchie Fork and run, near Burton, Wetzel county, finished four fair producers. The average production of these wells in this district is not much above 20 barrels at the start. Two very light producers were completed in the Salem district in Harrison county. The only district that shows any life is in the vicinity of the Industrial Oil Company's good well on the Girts' Industrial Home farm. Some six or eight locations have been made and a few of the rigs are ready to start.

Next in importance to the Longfellow well in Washington county is the Berea grit producer on the George Minor heirs' farm, in Jefferson county. During the week this well flowed 100 barrels a day with the greatest regularity. What is most surprising about this well is that it was not expected to be better than a five-barrel pumper, and in fact is located between two wells, neither of which is producing five barrels a day. It does not seem possible that there is room for more than a narrow streak, and at best not more than a few locations in length. If the location of the good producer was on any side of the old development it might be accepted as the forerunner of a new pool and the source from which the old wells had been drawing their production.

Back of Beaver Falls, in Beaver county, Pa., there is a new development that is attracting some attention. The oil is developed in the Berea grit and some of the wells have started at 100 barrels a day. Operations are increasing and it is thought that the production can be increased.

OLD-TIME SERENADERS WILL BE REORGANIZED

Former Pittsburgh Musical Club Will Meet This Week and Arrange for Benefit.

The Stephen C. Foster Serenaders, a musical company composed of prominent Pittsburghers who took part in many local charitable affairs 20 years ago, will be reorganized. The old singers will meet in the Nixon theater building on Friday evening and revive all their oldtime spirit and melody. An entertainment may be arranged for the benefit of one of the Pittsburgh hospitals.

The serenaders banded together late in the '70's and had 50 active members. They flourished for 10 years and had a large following. Its quartet was especially in demand, the voices of its members being frequently heard in other cities. The organization was christened in honor of Pittsburgh's famous song writer, and the Hon. Morrison Foster of Allegheny was one of their honorary members and heartiest supporters.

The survivors who are working for the reorganization of the serenaders are W. J. Diehl, Leon J. Long, Joseph T. Speer, J. T. Irwin, W. G. Muzzy, W. G. Lee, Benjamin McLain, D. C. Copperstone, Louis Love, Charles S. Curry and a score of others whose names are equally familiar. The quartet was composed of Prof. F. G. Bussman, who died in Munich three years ago; W. G. Muzzy, Thomas F. Kirk, Sr., and John D. Baiph, who now resides in London.

EXPORTS OF MANUFACTURES EXCEED $500,000,000

Chief Increase in Iron and Steel, Copper, Mineral, Oils and Cotton.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Exports of domestic manufactures from the United States in 1904 exceed for the first time $500,000,000, against $421,000,000 in 1903, and $441,000,000 in the earlier high-record year, 1900. Comparing 1904 with still earlier periods, it may also be said that the exports of manufactures were, in 1894, 10 years earlier, but $177,000,000; in 1884, $136,000,000; in 1874, $92,000,000; in 1864, $40,000,000, and in 1854, $28,000,000. These figures relate to calendar years except those of 1884 and earlier dates, which are those of fiscal years. The chief growth in the exports of manufactures, it will be seen, has occurred during the past decade, the growth during that period being $325,000,000, against $47,000,000 in the decade 1884-1894, $44,000,000 in the decade 1874-1884, $52,000,000 in the decade 1864-1874, and $12,000,000 in the decade 1854-1864.

This increase of $81,000,000, the largest increase shown in exports of manufactures in any calendar year in our export record, occurs chiefly in iron and steel, copper, refined mineral oils and cotton. Comparing 1904 with 1903, the increase in iron and steel is $20,500,000; in copper, $21,000,000; in mineral oils, $3,000,000, and in cotton manufactures, $6,500,000. The figures of 1904, $128,553,613, for iron and steel, are more than four times as great as those of a decade earlier, the total value of manufactures exported in 1894 being but $29,943,729, while the total value of manufactures exported since 1890 exceeds $1,000,000,000, the precise total, considering in all cases the figures of calendar years, being $1,008,307,466.

DEATH OF AGED MAN FOLLOWS THAT OF WIFE

Parents of Morgan D. Hayes of Pittsburgh Pass Away in Washington, Pa.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, PA., Jan. 29.—The death of Morgan Hayes, at his home in South Franklin street Saturday evening at 9:30 o'clock, was followed by that of his wife at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The death of each was due to grip. Mr. Hayes was 85 and his wife 76.

Morgan Hayes for many years was senior member of the firm of Hayes & Wilson, carriage makers of Washington, but had retired from business. He was born in Hartford county, Conn., and received his education in that city and also there learned the carriage maker's trade. He came to Washington in 1841 and with his brother and uncle went into business. He had always been an active Democrat. He was for many years an elder in the Second Presbyterian church. Mrs. Hayes' maiden name was Wilson.

STRENGTH

Is an attribute of manhood universally desired. Few people understand that the only source of physical strength is food, and that every one who has sufficient nourishing food should be strong. But there are thousands of puny people who have plenty of good food. How is that explained? The explanation is simple. Food does not nourish the body unless digested and assimilated. Diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition hinder the proper digestion and assimilation of the nutrition contained in the foodeaten. Thus the strength of food is lost, wasted.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and its allied organs. It causes the perfect digestion and assimilation of food and thus it makes men and women strong.

"I had been suffering from indigestion so badly that I could not work more than half the time, but now can work every day and eat anything I want," writes Mr. Victor L. Hayden, of Blackstone, Nottoway Co., Va. "Why? Because I took Dr. R. V. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It has put new life and energy in me, restored my health and made a man of me once more. I used to weigh 170 but had gotten down to 144, now am back to 160 and will soon be back at my old weight if nothing happens. Your medicine has done it all."

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery."

YOU CAN INTEREST HIM.

Any Man Over Fifty.

You can interest any man over 50 years of age in anything that will make him feel better, because while he may not as yet have any positive organic disease he no longer feels the buoyancy and vigor of 25 nor the freedom from aches and pains he enjoyed in earlier years, and he very naturally examines with interest any proposition looking to the improvement and preservation of his health.

He will notice among other things that the stomach of 50 is a very different one from the stomach he possessed at 25. That greatest care must be exercised as to what is eaten and how much of it, and even with the best of care, there will be increasing digestive weakness with advancing years.

A proposition to perfect or improve the digestion and assimilation of food is one which interests not only every man of 50, but every man, woman and child of any age, because the whole secret of good health, good blood, strong nerves, is to have a stomach which will promptly and thoroughly digest wholesome food because blood, nerves, brain tissue and every other constituent of the body are entirely the product of digestion, and no medicine or "health" food can possibly create pure blood or restore shaky nerves when a weak stomach is replenishing the daily wear and tear of the body from a mass of fermenting half-digested food.

No, the stomach itself wants help and in no round-about way, either; it wants direct, unmistakable assistance, such as is given by one or two Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal.

These tablets cure stomach trouble because their use gives the stomach a chance to rest and recuperate; one of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets contains digestive elements sufficient to digest 3,000 grains of ordinary food such as bread meat, eggs, etc.

The plan of dieting is simply another name for starvation, and the use of prepared foods and new fangled predigested foods simply makes matters worse, as any dyspeptic who has tried them knows.

As Dr. Beaumont says, the only reason I can imagine why Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are not universally used by everybody who is troubled in any way with poor digestion is because many people seem to think that because a medicine is advertised or is sold in drug stores or is protected by a trade-mark must be a humbug, whereas as a matter of truth any druggist who is observant knows that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have cured more people of indigestion, heart burn, heart trouble, nervous prostration and run-down condition generally than all the patent medicines and doctors' prescriptions for stomach trouble combined.

LEGAL NOTICES.

SYLVESTER J. SNEE, Attorney, 511-512 Park building, Pittsburgh. In the court of quarter sessions of Allegheny county, Pa. In re abolition of school district No. 1 of Jefferson and Mifflin townships, No. 10, December term, 1904. Notice is hereby given that on the 14th day of January, 1905, the petition of a majority of the citizens and resident taxpayers of school district No. 1 of Jefferson and Mifflin townships (said district being commonly known as "The Independent School District") was presented to the court of quarter sessions of Allegheny county, praying the court to abolish and discontinue said school district. And thereupon the court made the following order: "And now to wit, January 14, 1905, the within petition having been presented in open court, and after consideration thereof, upon motion of counsel for the petitioners, the same is ordered to be filed in the office of the clerk of courts. And the court further orders that public notice of the filing thereof be given by posting hand bills at seven of the most public places in each of said Jefferson and Mifflin townships and in seven of the most public places in said school district, and that notice be inserted once a week for four weeks in the Pittsburgh Gazette, the last insertion may be filed on or before the 4th day of March, 1905. By The Court." All parties interested are hereby notified that unless exceptions are filed on or before the time fixed by the above order, a final decree may be made abolishing and discontinuing said school district.

CERTIFICATE RE-EXTENDING CHARTER, Treasury Department, Office of the Comptroller of the Currency,
Washington, D. C., January 4, 1905.
WHEREAS, By satisfactory evidence presented to the undersigned, it has been made to appear that "The Allegheny National Bank of Pittsburgh," located in the city of Pittsburgh, in the county of Allegheny and state of Pennsylvania, has complied with all the provisions of the act of congress, "to enable national banking associations to extend their corporate existence, and for other purposes," approved July 12, 1882, as amended by the act, approved April 12, 1902.
NOW, therefore, I, Thomas P. Kane, deputy and acting comptroller of the currency, do hereby certify that "the Allegheny National Bank of Pittsburgh, located in the city of Pittsburgh, in the county of Allegheny and state of Pennsylvania, is authorized to have succession for the period specified in its amended articles of association—namely, until close of business on January 4, 1926."
In testimony whereof witness my hand and seal of office this fourth day of January, 1905.
(SEAL.)
Signed: T. P. KANE.
Deputy and Acting Comptroller of the Currency.

DUST OF ADAM HAD NO CREED

Rev. Dr. Levy Says Genesis Is But a Series of Fables and Legends.

ANCESTORS MAY BE IN ZOO

The last Sunday service of the Reform Congregation Rodeph Shalom was held in the Eighth street temple yesterday morning when the rabbi, the Rev. Dr. J. Leonard Levy, lectured on "The Brotherhood of Man." The congregation will hereafter, on Sunday mornings, meet in Carnegie hall, Allegheny, until such time when a new synagogue will have been secured. The congregation of the Second Presbyterian church will formally take possession of the Eighth street temple on Sunday next. In the course of his lecture yesterday morning Dr. Levy said in part:

Opening the first chapters of the Bible, which, by the way, I do not regard as anything but a series of fables and legends intended to convey the most impressive moral lesson, are and that God created man in His own image. The scripture does not speak of any particular sect, or race, or creed. It simply tells us that "God created man in His own image."

We also find there, according to the old legend, man was created from the dust of the earth, and again the sacred text does not apply any particular term that would lead us to believe that this dust, from which man was made, and upon which Deity breathed to any special social set. Scripture is evidently much broader than many a church and many a creed, for the unbiased and unprejudiced reader of the sacred text cannot but conclude from the story of creation that God, the Father, designed men, His children, to be members of one great family and to behave and conduct themselves in the spirit of children who are enjoying the privileges of a father's table.

Learning by Experience.

It is many centuries ago since this statement was made by the great Hebrew who indited the great "Ode of Creation" inscribed in the opening chapters of the Book of Genesis. During all these long years mankind has wandered from the ancient home, and in wandering he has learned something by experience. In this twentieth century we stand face to face with some of the established facts of the universe, facts which narrow churches, bigoted creeds and impudent fanatics cannot argue out of existence.

We stand, for example, face to face with the fact that all created objects are manifestations of an ultimate energy which is observed as much in the rock as in the cloud, in the blade of grass as in the tree, in the lowest types of amoeba and in the highest souls which have spoken, face to face, with God.

It is indeed true, from the standpoint of demonstrated science, that it makes very little difference whether we look for our ancestors in the zoological garden or in a Garden of Eden. In either case, all life and all consciousness must be traced back to the creative force, the infinite and extreme energy which is the product of God's will. Minds see truths from different angles of vision. So long as the truths be admitted the expression may be different. Liberty demands that differences of expression be admitted. Those who deny this right simply inscribe themselves among the hosts of darkness, friends and relatives of bats and owls.

Every God-believer accepts the Deity as his Father and readily addresses Him in prayer as "Our Father." Every God-believer must admit into the communion of brotherhood every child of God. For, God has no stepchildren; He is Father, not step-father, of all men of every creed, color, condition and country. He who believes less than this speaks of Father with his lips, but denies Him by his life. He who says "Our Father," yet refuses to acknowledge human brotherhood is, to my mind, worse than the atheist who says that he is the illegitimate product of chance atoms. He who says "Our Father," yet evilly designs the ruin of his brother, is worse than the heathen who does not recognize the relationship existing among men; aye, worse, far worse, than the benighted brute who has been denied the celestial ray of reason.

Men Divided by Theology.

Though today creeds still war on each other and men demonstrate their kinship with little trust, there is cheer in the hope that in the succession of the ages human brotherhood will be expressed in ever-widening manner. The world has divided men just as religion is destined to unite them, and with the spread of knowledge I have no doubt but many a fence, reared as a consequence of mistaken creeds, will be broken down, and many a truth, hidden beneath theological hair-splittings will be established.

It is to this work that this congregation is pledged. For more than 50 years on this spot Rodeph Shalom has endeavored to express, both by belief and action, its faith in the Fatherhood of God and the Brotherhood of Man. Those who succeed us in this building will, I feel sure, continue this work in the broadest and most liberal spirit; and wherever in the future the temple of this congregation will be erected, it will be designed to be a house of prayer for all people, the physical embodiment of the Fatherhood of God and the Brotherhood of Man. During the years that have passed we have been worshiping with us men and women of every color and every creed. Week by week there have been those who have found stay for their soul and nourishment for their spiritual desires. May it ever be so, and may it be the good fortune of this congregation that in this progressive community, whose material wealth and marvelous growth are one of the wonders of the modern world, we may be privileged both to teach and to live, to preach and to practice the divine gospel of God's Fatherhood and human brotherhood.

SOME HILLTOP DEVILS EXPOSED BY DR. G. H. FLINN

Pastor Tells of the Legion Possessing Many and Prays That They Be Cast Out.

The Rev. Dr. George H. Flinn preached to his congregation in the Washington Avenue Methodist Episcopal church last evening on "A Legion of Hilltop Devils." He took for his text Mark v:9, "My name is legion, for we are many," and in the course of his sermon, said:

Were Christ to walk the shores of the great sea of humanity in this enlightened twentieth century He would be met by the legion possessed. The outward manifestation of the evil within might be greatly changed, but it would be the same old disease, deep-seated in human affections and human wills. We have but to look about us to find devils possessing men which are too degraded to inhabit even the swine into which the old-time "legion" were sent.

Look upon those swayed by the "rum devil," spreading disease and disgrace along the path of life. The "swear devil" is to be encountered at almost every turn. In this cultured city the "lying devil" stalks abroad, lying to man and lying to God. How many in the large circle of your devoted friends and followers can you absolutely trust? Happy is the man who places implicit confidence in a person and finds that it has not been misplaced.

In the church the "devil of doubt" is too often encountered, hindering the work of gathering and polishing jewels for the coronation day. The "devil of hypocrisy" occasionally rears his head and extends his cold, clammy hand. But the devil of all devils with which the Hilltop churches have to contend is the "legion of indifference," which is possessing scores of professing Christians. We need pray earnestly that the Lord who stood by the seaside and cast out the devil into the sea, may come to this city, and by His mighty power cast out this legion of modern devils!

M'KINLEY DAY AT BIJOU.

Second Presbyterian Congregation Hold Services in Memory of Late President.

McKinley day was observed yesterday afternoon in the Bijou theater under the auspices of the congregation of the Second Presbyterian church. Cola J. B. Clark Post 162, Grand Army of the Republic, attended in a body with their colors, while other Grand Army of the Republic organizations were represented. Previous to the service, stereopticon views of incidents in the life of the late president were shown, and hymns known to have been dear to him were sung. The pastor, the Rev. Dr. S. Edward Young, preached on the life and character of the late president.

START A SUNDAY SCHOOL.

The establishment of a Sunday school under the auspices of Calvary Protestant Episcopal church in the Highland district took place yesterday afternoon in the Margaretta school house. Many members of the congregation were present to help launch the venture, which, it is hoped, will develop into a new Episcopal parish.

The work is in charge of the Rev. David L. Ferris associate rector of Calvary church, and 173 were enrolled in the Sunday school yesterday. The school house will be used each Sunday afternoon until a suitable site and permanent building can be secured.

NEW SOUTH LATROBE CHURCH DEDICATED

LATROBE, Jan. 29.—(Special.)—The new United Brethren in Christ church, in South Latrobe, was dedicated today. Bishop J. S. Mills preached the dedicatory sermon at 10:30 in the morning and also delivered the opening address in the evening. At the platform meeting in the afternoon the Rev. S. A. Keister of Mt. Pleasant opened the services, which were participated in by local clergymen. The new church is a pressed brick and stone structure of Gothic architecture with memorial windows of stained glass. The seating capacity is 800. The building cost $15,000.

M'KINLEY, LOVER OF HUMANITY

Rev. Dr. Daniel Dorchester, Jr., Preaches on Character of the Late President.

HAD AN EXALTED CONSCIENCE

As the first sermon in a series on "Lovers of Humanity," the Rev. Dr. Daniel Dorchester, Jr., of Christ Methodist Episcopal church, Liberty and Center avenue, preached last night on the character and life of William McKinley. Dr. Dorchester paid the late president a worthy tribute and said in part:

No man ever came to the presidential chair more thoroughly disciplined in the practical details of public life, with a clearer understanding of the character of the American people, as well as of the great problems of politics, than Mr. McKinley. He brought to the study of our Constitution and system of government a vigorous and discriminating intellect, an exalted conscientiousness, a pure and fervent patriotism, and great physical and moral courage. Clearness, force and wisdom characterized all his speeches. Studious of facts, guilty of no nonsense, obedient to the highest principles of political science, forceful and logical, his words carried conviction to all who listened. If true eloquence consists in truth suffused with a noble spirit and the magnetic power that arrests the attention and persuades the will, then he was an orator of the first order. It may be said of him what was once remarked of a distinguished French orator: "He said just what he meant to say and, like an expert navigator, he steered his words and his ideas through the shoals which beset him on every side, not only without going to wreck, but without ever running aground."

Mr. McKinley was emphatically a well-balanced man. He had not so profound a knowledge of law as Harrison, nor the speculative political insight of Jefferson, nor the massive argumentation of Webster, nor the culture of John Quincy Adams; his congressional leadership was not so brilliant as Blaine's nor was he such a political organizer as Henry Wilson; his intuitions were not so far-reaching as Lincoln's, but he possessed all these qualities in a large degree and embodied them in a beautiful unity. Lincoln alone equals him in what Burke finely terms "the rustic, manly, home-bred sense" of the country. Like Lincoln, McKinley was a typical American. We elected him because he represented us. His character was made by good sense, his sterling honesty, his patriotism, his energy and mastery of the means which command success, light our way to a knowledge of what an American is and should be.

There could be nothing more prosaic and uneventful than his early life here in Ohio. He was not brilliant as a student; there was nothing sublime in anything he said or did. No one thought when he presided at that youthful debating society in his stocking feet that he would ever become president of the United States. But his character was growing all the while. Beginning at the very bottom of his unconscious soul, growing as from cell to cell, the ever-widening, ever-hardening tissues of an ever-working, conquering will, until based upon the sweet simplicity of his quiet life it rose to eminence and stood four-square before the world, a tower of strength in the perilous days of our republic. His greatness was no accident or sudden acquisition. There was no "getting up," no preparation for special occasions, as in so many lives; but always minute faithfulness. The flower on the western prairie is as carefully formed as the flower that is nurtured in the garden of the White House. And Mr. McKinley was as true and faithful in the little things of his obscure life as when he was governor and president.

The most gorgeous sunset mortal eye ever beheld, with its many-peaked clouds, translucent with crimson and gold, and its mysterious foregleams of a land that is fairer than day, is after all, when coldly analyzed by science, only commonplace mist, shot through and through with commonplace light. When we look at the mist alone near the earth, we call it fog, but when raised into the heavens and transfused into a beauty that speaks to our souls, we think it sublime. Such is the sunset glory of a character like McKinley's. His sun has set, but its afterglow remains and every year will become deeper and purer in its coloring.

MUST CENTRALIZE SCIENTIFIC STUDY

Year Book Has Been Issued by the Carnegie Institution of Washington.

SOME DATA OF LITTLE VALUE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Official announcement of researches along various scientific lines is made in the Year Book for 1904 just issued by the Carnegie institution of Washington. Considerable attention is devoted in this report to the necessity of method and organization for promoting research in the exact sciences, and Prof. Simon Newcomb suggests that while the 19th century has been industrially piling up a vast mass of astronomical, meteorological, magnetical observations and data at great expense the world over, the working out of results from these observations is defective and lacks system.

To correct this he urges the organization of an institute or bureau of "exact science in general," the head of which should be aided by a council of experts picked from various countries to advise as to the various departments at work, with a view to reaching results at small expense which, without such organization, never would be reached.

In this connection the approval of such men as Karl Pearson of the University college of London, England; Lord Rayleight of the Royal institution of Great Britain, G. H. Darwin of Cambridge, and others in greater or smaller degree of the scheme has been secured. Mr. Pearson adds that at least 50 per cent of the scientific observations made and the data collected are worthless and no man, however able, could deduce any result from them at all.

"I doubt," says he, "whether even a small proportion of the biometric data being accumulated in Europe and America could be made to provide valuable results."

Discussing the Southern observatory project, the report says that under the grants from the Carnegie institution the direction and velocity of the solar motions are being determined from all available material and before the close of 1905 results are expected for 5,000 of the more frequently observed stars. The need of special observations of stars that have been neglected for the past 80 years also is advocated.

The institution's department of international research in terrestrial magnetism reports that its investigations show that little progress has been made along that line; that systematic magnetic surveys of the oceanic areas are entirely lacking and that despite the apparently vast accumulation of data such an important question as whether the earth's magnetic energy is increasing or decreasing and the annual rate of change cannot yet be definitely answered.

REMEMBER LOT'S WIFE.

"Remember Lot's Wife," was the sermon subject of the Rev. Dr. W. Frank Silveus in the Second Cumberland Presbyterian church, Penn and Brushton avenues, last night. Dr. Silveus called attention to the consequences of sin and the necessity of fleeing from its baneful influences, and said in part:

Remember her danger. There is always danger in vicious associations. God had pronounced the doom of Sodom. Lot and his family knew this, but they were willing to risk more and more, until they fell. This world is a Sodom, and against it has been declared the condemnation of God's law. Her danger is your danger, unless you escape. The only way to get rid of sin is to come away from it. Jesus says of the world and sinners: "Come out from among them, and be ye separate, and touch not the unclean thing, and I will receive you." The coming out is necessary.

The Pills That Cure
Rheumatism

Mr. C. H. Hickey, of No. 3 Main St., Harris, R. I., is one of thousands who have been cured of Rheumatism by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills For Pale People.

He says: "I suffered for three months, a part of the time confined to bed. I took many remedies but without relief. Then I tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and the first box I took helped me. After I had taken three boxes the swelling went down and the pain and lameness left me for good. I have had no trace of rheumatism since. My wife and I recommend these pills to everyone afflicted."

Obstinate cases of neuralgia, sciatica and locomotor ataxia also yield to this specific for diseases of the blood and nerves.

MARKET LITTLE DISTURBED BY THE RUSSIAN UPRISING

Affair Was Not Interpreted in Financial Centers as a Revolution and Prices Were But Slightly Affected.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—That question which so deeply concerned the financial markets of the world at the outset of the last business week, whether the crisis in Russian affairs was revolt or revolution, was speedily determined, for the time being, at least. The news telling of the uprisings in St. Petersburg and elsewhere, and of the severe methods employed by the authorities to repress them, certainly spelled revolution, but the action of security prices everywhere interpreted the affair otherwise.

Whether statesmen and bankers had better information concerning the bloody collision in the czar's capital than the newspaper correspondents is not known, but their judgment of its present importance was assuredly more judicial and better considered. Prices broke, but recovered rapidly on the exchanges of all great financial centers and nothing, it may be said, measures more accurately the true importance of such events than security price movements.

It may be regarded as highly unlikely, however, that the markets have heard the last of the Russian disturbances. They are admittedly of a very serious character, though not reaching at this time the magnitude of a revolution. What will be their effect on the Russian community in the future is, of course, merely conjecture. Much naturally depends upon how the problem of a disturbed populace, grievously oppressed and with many real wrongs to be rectified is met by the authorities. The outcome of the situation appears to indicate one of two extremes, either a constitutional government for Russia, or a real revolution. These matters, however, are not such as come to a head in a week or a month. They may be hastened, to be sure, by two influences, either through the severity of the methods employed in repression or the financial necessities of the Russian government.

Naturally, Russia will not be able to borrow now upon terms as advantageous as before. That, however, is to be expected, and is no more peculiar of Russia than of Japan or of the United States during the civil war, or of Great Britain in the Boer war. It has been figured out that the recent Russian loan placed in Germany cost the government between 6 and 7 per cent. That is a high rate, but, even considering the difference in time, conditions and interest rate, it is a trifle compared with the terms of some of our war loans. The conclusion that Russia is insolvent because a loan flotation is postponed or because she is forced to borrow at 6½ or 7 per cent, is unwarranted.

Our own security market stood the test of the adverse news from Russia exceedingly well. Without doubt the technical position, the lodgment of stocks in strong hands, had something to do with this, and the ease and stability of the money market contributed its full share. But this is only one feature. The markets of the world held similarly well, and it is safe to assume, no matter what the technical position of the New York market may be, that throughout the world there are plenty of securities held weakly. The only possible conclusion to be drawn from the general stability then appears to be that the serious import of the Russian disturbances had been much exaggerated. Whether this eliminates all possibilities of trouble in the future and justifies all the foreign optimism that is cabled to the stock market, is another matter which time alone can determine. It would seem, however, that the events were of a character sufficiently serious to make for conservatism, until at least their tendencies became more clearly defined.

The report of the United States Steel Corporation on Tuesday for the last quarter of 1904 is destined to exert a marked influence. The management of the concern has in recent months spoken in a very optimistic manner on the late results, and the report will probably be more influential in the statement of the orders on hand than in the figures as to earnings. These latter will, of course, disclose the enormous losses sustained in the last year from business contraction. Wall street will very likely put the matter of the decreased earnings of the year behind it, and look to the profits to be derived from the orders on hand to repair these damages. Iron and steel is, of course, the recognized barometer of trade, and doubtless the favorable conditions there are destined in time to exert a favorable influence elsewhere, and is even now doing so; but that general business is not as good as has been reported in Wall street is now the story told in banking circles.

WHEAT MARKET CLOSED WITH FIRM FINISH

Anticipation of Reduced Exports from Australia and Argentina Was Chief Factor.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 28.—Anticipation of reduced exports from Australia and Argentina was largely the cause of a firm finish today in the wheat market. At the close May wheat was up ½c. Corn is off ¼c, oats are ⅜c down and provisions 2½c to 15c.

Reflecting lower prices at Liverpool, the wheat market here was easy at the opening. May started ⅛c to ¼c off at $1 15½ to $1 15⅝. The decline abroad was said to be due to increasing shipments from Australia. At the start there was considerable selling, commission houses and pit traders being prominent on that side of the market. The slight decline, however, brought out a fair demand from shorts. In consequence there was soon a firmer undertone, May advancing to $1 16. Receipts in the northwest today were quite small, and news of the cash situation at Minneapolis was rather bullish. A revised estimate made by an English crop expert regarding the portable surplus of wheat from Argentina and Australia materially reduced former figures. This gave some anxiety to shorts and resulted in additional coverings. Trading, however, was comparatively light throughout the entire season. The market closed firm, with May at $1 15⅞. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 54,300 bushels. Primary receipts were 433,000 bushels, compared with 536,100 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 281 cars, against 441 cars last week and 253 cars a year ago.

Selling by cash houses and scalpers caused a rather weak corn market. The selling was due largely to lower cables and increased acceptances in the country. May opened unchanged to ⅛c lower at 45¼c to 45¼c, sold off to 44⅞@45c and closed at 45c. Local receipts were 248 cars, none of contract grade.

Larger receipts than expected was partly responsible for a slight decline in the price of oats. The market was also affected by the weakness of corn. Trading was very quiet. May opened a shade to ¼c lower at 31c to 31⅛, sold between 30⅞@31¼c and closed at 30¾c. Local receipts were 74 cars.

A decline of 10c in hog prices started moderate profit taking in provisions and resulted in lower prices throughout the list. At the close May pork was off 12½@15c at $12 82½. Lard was down 7½c to $6 95; ribs were off 2½@5c at $6 82½.

Estimated receipts for Monday: Wheat, 33 cars; corn, 345 cars; oats, 120 cars; hogs, 53,000 head.

REVIEW OF THE WEEK IN THE LOCAL MARKETS

Trade Slow Owing to the Cold Weather, Eggs Being the Only Live Feature.

Last week was one of the most unsatisfactory in the local markets the dealers have experienced for a long time. The weather was against business. Only those buyers who had to braved the elements and went into the market. Those who had sufficient stocks to last them over calmly sat about comfortable fires and waited until the weather man got in a better humor.

The egg market was the interesting feature of the week. The warm weather which prevailed at the opening gave promise of a great drop in the price. The zero weather which came rather unexpectedly and which was as much a surprise to the weather bureau as to the general public, ended all hope of a cheaper egg market for the present. Hens stopped laying and eggs which had been produced could not be got to market. As a result prices advanced, and 31 and 32 cents are now the best quotations which can be secured. The figures are not reliable, however, as dealers hesitate about giving quotations and every man has a price of his own depending on whether he is well supplied or the opposite. The fanciest selected fresh stock is being sold by some dealers as high as 35 and 37 cents a dozen, but the average is down to about 32. All dealers look for a drop within the next week or ten days; however, this all depends on the weather. February is usually the coldest winter month in this locality, and if it keeps up its record there will be no great reduction until about the 23d of the month.

Produce of all kinds was slow all week as it was impossible to ship any that could be sold. Potatoes are the dullest thing in the market, and the price has dropped considerably, which is regarded as unusual at this time of the year. Much frozen stock is being received.

Southern fruits are arriving badly damaged. Carloads of oranges have been frozen en route and the Florida fruits have suffered terribly from the frost. Several hundred thousand boxes of oranges are reported frozen, involving a loss of a couple million dollars to growers there. The supply of Florida and southern green stuff has been seriously damaged and the receipts today are practically nothing.

In groceries, dried fruits and some canned goods have moved up sharply. This is largely due to the comparative failure of the California fruit crop last season, and was anticipated by dealers several months ago. Receipts of these goods are light, and it is difficult to get orders filled in full. Prices will probably be much higher before warm weather comes again.

Flour has been uncertain all week. Some dealers have cut the prices and others held it where it was a week ago. Sugar is strong and coffee is in the same condition. Advances in coffee are looked for in the near future, but it is believed sugar is about at its high mark.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts

Dullness characterized the hay and grain market all week until the last two days. The zero weather seemed to have the effect of sharpening everybody up and, while prices did not advance and the sales were not large, there was a better tone to the market. Ear corn is slowly dropping to a lower level. The receipts are plentiful and the demand growing heavier. Aside from this there was no change of moment in any of the articles handled.
